LEAPS 50-FOOT CLIFF

Mother Rescues Fallen Child

By FRANK FARRARA

A San Rafael mother made a daring leap off a 50-foot cliff at China Camp yesterday afternoon to rescue her 6-year-old son who had fallen moments before.

The mother, Mrs. Arthur C. Burton, 34, of 71 Knight Drive, escaped with multiple cuts, bruises and scrapes. Her son, Richard, escaped with a cut chin.

Mrs. Burton said she and a friend, Mrs. Marilyn Dixon, and their children were having a picnic on the bluff at China Camp overlooking San Pablo Bay.

Richard, who had been looking for shells, leaned over and toppled down the steep cliff, grabbing brush on the way down.

One of the Dixon children ran back and reported the fall. Mrs. Burton ran to the cliff and jumped to rescue her son, who was at the bottom, half in the bay waters.

"I didn't even see him," Mrs. Burton said. "I just jumped. I bounced off a bush and landed on a rock."

"A man in a boat who was digging for clams helped us up the hill, "said Mrs. Burton." We were a bloody mess."

Mrs. Dixon drove them to San Rafael General Hospital, where they were treated and sent home.

"I landed on my head, but I had a hair piece on and I think that cushioned the blow," Mrs. Burton said. "He landed in the bushes and I landed about 12 feet away."

Mrs. Burton, who was wearing a polo shirt, shorts and sneakers, said the sneakers were torn and her legs bruised and scraped. Her son's trousers were torn to ribbons, she said.

"It was the most heroic thing I've ever seen in my life," declared Mrs. Dixon.

Reflecting on her action, Mrs. Burton said, "I could have been killed."

Teen-Agers Ask Larger Role In Marin Decisions

Youth For Action Conference Stresses Race Communication

By STEPHEN COOK

Marin County teen-agers, about 1,100 strong, took a hard look at their community Saturday and decided there will have to be some changes made.

The changes, some of which make the adult community squirm on its collective seat, were proposed at the close of the all-day Marin Youth for Action conference held at College of Marin.

Some pronouncements made by the youngsters included:

Race relations in the county are poor because of a lack of communication. More inter-racial discussion groups are needed. A program, similar to those for foreign exchange students, could be used to exchange students between Negro and Caucasion families for a semester or a year.

Marin County youngsters "have no place to go." Give them a youth center which they, themselves, could run. Police would not be hired to chaperone dances there. There would be chaperones, but they would be older young people chosen by the youths.

Juvenile court justices do not always know all the circumstances surrounding a crime. A youth advisory commission should be formed to work with juvenile authorities.

Grades do not motivate the students. Schools should revamp their systems and give only "satisfactory" and "unsatisfactory" marks.

Youth has as much interest in schools as do parents and teachers. Youngsters should be given representation in the Parent Teacher Assn. Make that the Parent, Student-Teacher Assn.

School board trustees should take the pressure off teachers and let them teach in a freer atmosphere. On the other hand, teachers should keep their personal prejudices out when teach-

Negro Youth's Talk Hailed By Audience

Calvin Scott, 18, senior at Tamalpais High School and self-proclaimed "angry young Negro man in a white America," won a standing ovation from both his peers and the older generation Saturday with an appeal for better communication between black and white races.

Scott, who lives at 50 Cole Street, Marin City, spoke during a forum on human relations at the Marin Youth for Action conference at College of Marin.

He thumbed his nose at such traditionally accepted saviors of the American Negro as civil rights organizations and the War on Poverty, and told the 600 forum participants that hope for better race relations can be summed up in one word—communication.

"The problem is," he declared, "there are two races isolated from one another. The wall which separates them is fear. The result is lack of communication.

"So I submit that the answers or solutions lie in communication and if your presence here today indicates a quest for communication, understanding and direction, I say: people communicate!"

With an angry sneer, Scott dismissed the thought that any civil rights organization can improve the Negro's lot.

"Why? Because the civil

COMBINED AP & UPI

Secretary of State Dean Rusk complained that Pekin keeps "hanging up the phone" on U.S. attempts to ease Asia's tensions; Senate foreign relations leader Sen. J. W. Fulbright and 198 Asian affairs scholars urged Red China's admission to the United Nations.

The other scholars told a Senate hearing that Peking may be pulling in its horns after foreign policy rebuffs on several fronts; a leading admiral stated he thinks "cool heads" behind the bamboo curtain may keep China out of any war with the U.S.

In Washington, Red China was pictured today as facing its worst foreign policy crisis with the likelihood that U.S. containment will ultimately force Peking to soften its course.

Associate Prof. Donald S. Zagoria of Columbia University told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that even now "the rumblings of discontent with Mao's policies are plainly audible in China."

Thus, he added, when Communist leader Mao Tse-tung dies

COMBINED AP & UPI

SAIGON — The United States lost six more planes in widening American air operations over North and South Viet Nam, a U.S. spokesman reported today. Two fliers were killed, two captured and two others are missing, he said.

One of the planes lost in North Viet Nam was a jet Skynight "Spook" loaded with radar-jamming equipment.

In the ground war, about 3,000 U.S. Marines launched two separate operations — Oregon and Texas — against Communist units near Hue and Quang Ngai City on the north coast. Attacking under Marine jet strikes and artillery fire, the Leathernecks reported killing 46 Viet Cong in ground attacks and possibly many more in air and artillery strikes in Operation Texas at Ap Trung Thanh, 15 miles northwest of Hue.

Marines in Operation Oregon near An Hoa, just outside Quang Ngai, reported killing 34 enemy troops in heavy fighting this morning.

Marine casualties in both clashes—about 120 miles apart—were described as light.

Near Saigon, the U.S. Strategic Air Command marked its 20th anniversary by sending Guam-based B-52 bombers over the Communist D-Zone stronghold 35 miles north of the capital to pound escape routes leading through the jungle to Cambodia.

In two other actions, South Vietnamese troops reported killing more than 225 Viet Cong.

Meanwhile, Viet Nam's powerful Buddhist leaders, stung by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's stern warning against demonstrations tonight told their followers to be ready for action if necessary.

Senate Plans Speedy Action On Viet Cash

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped for speedy approval today of the administration's $13.1-billion appropriation bill that would provide more weapons and manpower for the Viet Nam war.

No major policy battles — similar to those that erupted when Congress debated legislation authorizing the war funds — were expected to break out, but some hitches may develop.

The Senate is considering making some minor amendments in the bill which would require House approval. The House passed the measure last week by a 389-3 vote.

The funds would be added to defense spending for the current fiscal year. Funds for fiscal 1967, starting July 1, are the subject of hearings now going on in the House and Senate.

State Court Reopens Hearings On Fair Housing Law Challenges

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Supreme Court opened a three-day hearing today into whether voters violated the state or federal constitutions when they revoked California laws against housing discrimination.

The measure, Proposition 14, passed by an overwhelming margin in November, 1964. It outlawed state laws aimed at barring racial or religious discrimination in most California housing. It gave owners of apartments or homes total control over persons they rent to, including the right to refuse rental because of race or religion.

Seven cases testing the proposition's constitutionality have worked up to the court. It originally ended hearings earlier, but a new U.S. Supreme Court ruling caused the state court to reopen the issue.

That federal decision held that a Georgia city cannot avoid federal constitutional restrictions against racial discrimination by turning a public park into a private operation.

More than $200 million in federal urban renewal aid to California has been frozen since the vote. Officials say they can't release the funds because Prop. 14 might mean California can't comply with federal anti-discrimination requirements in urban renewal contracts.

Despite pleas from Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the most recent last week, the Washington officials are waiting to see what the court says before a decision on the money is made.

Stanley Mosk, now a State Supreme Court associate justice has disqualified himself from the case, since he was attorney general during the Prop. 14 campaign. Sitting in his place with the other six judges will be Thomas White, a retired associate justice.

Spring Here —And Parks Filling Up

Spring has arrived.

It came in with little fanfare at 5:53 p.m. yesterday but the exodus to the parks, woods and beaches of Marin County began almost immediately.

Nearly 5,000 people drove to Stinson Beach State Park yesterday and officials had the busiest Sunday so far this year. Patrols had to be kept up along the beach to prevent swimming as the surf is considered too rough this time of year.

At Samuel P. Taylor State Park, 350 people took along picnic baskets—nearly double the number March 13. Campers have already begun to use the park and on Saturday 30 families pitched their tents under the redwoods.

LBJ Again Asks Protection For Creditors, Label Laws

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Johnson today renewed his requests to Congress for legislation to protect American Consumers from sharp practices in "two critical areas — lending and packaging."

In a special message, the President called for measures to curb unfair lending practices, unfair packaging and labeling and the distribution of dangerous drugs.

Johnson said the consumer "has a right to a dollar of stable purchasing power" and pledged "to defend that right with all the ability and determination at my command."

The Chief Executive's requests were renewals of proposals he first recommended two years ago. "We need such legislation urgently," said Johnson. "We can now act wisely without much further delay.

"A new and progressive program is needed if we are to protect the American consumer's rights in the market place —his right to be informed, to choose, to be protected from unsafe products and to be heard in the councils of government."

Charging that the right of the consumer to know the actual cost of his credit "has been ignored for too long," Johnson recommended requiring lenders to state the full cost of credit, simply and clearly, and to state it before any credit contract is signed.

He said lenders charge reasonable rates but "a minority of unscrupulous operators . . wring from the unwary purchaser a price far higher than the credit market requires."

Labor Shuns Both Parties

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany declared the independence of the labor federation from both major political parties today.

"We can't buy either party," he said.

In his strongest indication of a break with the Democrats, Meany said: "It is quite obvious if we were looking around for a party to adopt and control, we don't want the Democratic party because they can't deliver."

Meany, who has been angrily feuding with the Johnson administration and Democrats in Congress over what he calls failure to deliver their 1964 campaign promises to organized labor, said he was replying to critics who say labor has too much power.

American Tabacco Cuts Price Rise

NEW YORK (AP) — American Tobacco Co., which set off a wave of price increases in the cigarette industry last week, announced today it would cut its increases in half.

It had been scheduled to raise wholesale prices 40 cents per thousand cigarettes today, but cut it to 20 cents.

Assemblyman Bagley Set For Ballot

Already having filed for the Democratic nomination in the June 7 primary to oppose Bagley is Robert E. Mertle, 36, of 12 Tarrant Court, Santa Venetia.

Bagley, 37, was elected in 1960 and is seeking his fourth term for the district, which now comprises Marin and the southern half of Sonoma County.

Court Awards Cohen $110,000

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — One-time gambler Mickey Cohen was awarded $110,000 in damages by a federal district judge today as the result of a lead pipe assault in the Atlanta Penitentiary.

Cohen had sued for $10 million, charging that the negligence of prison authorities permitted the attack by another prisoner Aug. 14, 1963.

The award was set by U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney O. Smith, who heard the lawsuit without a jury in February.

EMERYVILLE INFERNO — Firemen struggle to contain a blaze that destroyed one block of Emeryville's industrial district last night, wreaking an estimated $1.5 million damage to three firms' buildings. The fire, which sent burning cardboard whirling onto the Eastshore freeway and Bay Bridge approaches, was kept away from the nearby Sherman Williams Paint factory. (UPI Telephoto)

$1.5 Million Damage In Emeryville Blaze

EMERYVILLE (AP)—Flames, visible on both sides of San Francisco Bay, wiped out a block of warehouses and plants last night, causing at least $1.5 million damage.

Seven firemen were injured, but none seriously. Others leaped to safety as a brick wall collapsed and destroyed their engine.

Donald Neary, mayor of this East Bay industrial community, said the fire loss would not be less than the $1.5 million figure and probably more.

Ruined were a box factory operated by Container Corp. of America, a warehouse of Marcel-Schurman Co. which imports paper products, and an electrical repair plant owned by Sears Roebuck and Co.

Firemen could not determine what caused the fire but said it started in the Container Corp. plant, roaring through box materials and highly flammable barrels of glue.

As heat and flames shorted electrical circuits, lights blinked out in the surrounding area temporarily.

High winds fanned flames that flickered 150 feet into the sky and threw a blanket of smoke across the Eastshore Freeway. The California Highway Patrol closed the freeway's northbound lanes during the peak of the fire.

Fire Levels Landmark On Peninsula

ATHERTON (AP) — Firemen hunted today for arson clues in a $175,000 fire that destroyed the Ramor Oaks Restaurant within minutes.

Daniel Hollywood, Marshal of the Menlo Park-Atherton Fire District, said he suspected arson in the early yesterday morning blaze.

Bruno Faua, who operated the San Francisco Peninsula restaurant, said he had checked the building before leaving at 2 a.m. and found nothing amiss. A passing Atherton policeman turned in the first alarm at 2:06 a.m.

Russ Capable Of Ringing U.S. With Sub Fleet

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Soviet Union's growing submarine fleet has now reached the point where missile-firing nuclear subs could be stationed continuously within range of coastal cities in the United States.

The Russians now have on station at all times at least one nuclear-powered missile sub in the Atlantic and another in the Pacific. They are deployed in ocean areas from which they could zero in on launch positions off the U.S. coast in two or three days.

Information on the Soviet operations was obtained by United Press International after long inquiry among sources in the United States and Europe. It has not been publicized widely, but the development is being eyed anxiously in Western capitals.

The subs are the spearheads of an expanding fleet which logically can be expected to take station in due course within firing range of American coastal population centers.

The Russians thus could attempt to counter the U.S. Polaris missile submarines now stationed in the Atlantic, Pacific and Mediterranean within easy reach of Soviet and Red Chinese targets. This, in effect, would redress the military balance in a manner the Soviets failed to do with their missiles in Cuba in 1962.

Russ Temblors Hint Bomb Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union may be conducting a new series of underground nuclear tests.

Seismographs at Berkeley, Calif., and Uppsala, Sweden, recorded a shock in Soviet Central Asia early Sunday. The Atomic Energy Commission said the seismic signals "were equivalent to those of a nuclear test in the low-intermediate to intermediate-yield range."

But an AEC spokesman would not say definitely that Russia had conducted a nuclear test. The AEC made a similar announcement after another shock was recorded from the same area five weeks ago.

The United States has announced nine weapons-related nuclear tests this year.

Seven Die In Transport Crash

BARDU, Norway (AP)—Wreckage of a U.S. military transport plane was found today on a mountain peak on the Arctic island of Senja, and all seven American airmen aboard were killed, a military spokesman announced.

The C-130 Hercules was based at Forbes Air Force Base, in Kansas. It was flying from Evreux Air Base, in France, to the base at Bardu to fly Italian troops back to Italy after a NATO winter exercise in northern Norway.

100 Die In Uganda Earthquake

KAMPALA, Uganda (UPI)—Police helicopters today rushed doctors and supplies into remote western Uganda, where one of the most violent earthquakes in recent African history killed more than 100 persons.

Russ Hinted Trying Space Rendezvous

MOSCOW (AP)— The Soviet Union announced today the launching of an earth satellite but made no immediate comment on foreign reports that it might be attempting a space rendezvous.

The announcement of the launching of Cosmos 113 was worded in the usual form for unmanned satellites. It was reported to be engaged in scientific research.

The Bochum Observatory in West Germany said Cosmos 113 might be trying to rendezvous with 112, launched last week.

The observatory said that it began picking up signals from the new satellite early today. By this afternoon, it said the new satellite's orbit was being synchronized with that of Cosmos 112.

There has been speculation that the Russians were preparing a new space sensation for the occasion. It has been more than a year since the Russians put a man in orbit.

A West Berlin observatory expressed the opinion yesterday that the Russians used a new launching site near the Arctic Circle for sending Cosmos 112 into orbit.

Weather Still Delays H-Bomb Recovery Try

PALOMARES, Spain (UPI) — High winds and rough seas today again delayed U.S. Navy efforts to recover a missing American H-bomb from a underwater ridge 2,500-feet down in the Mediterranean Sea.

Navy crews had hoped for good weather to begin lifting operations today. But high winds kicked up white caps throughout the search area five miles offshore.

Units of the 6th Fleet stood by, waiting for a break in the weather. Search teams had been delayed previously by rough seas and mechanical problems in one of the undersea craft searching for the bomb.

The bomb, missing for nine weeks of Spain's southeast coast, was sighted Wednesday—its parachute still attached—from a midget submarine. Recovery teams also were hampered yesterday by electrical troubles aboard the 51-foot underwater research craft Aluminaut which had to dock for battery recharging.

The 22-foot submersible Alvin—from which the bomb was first sighted and photographed—was used for additional photographing of the weapon, resting on an underwater ridge about five miles offshore from this resort area. Nuclear experts said they were "nearly 100 per cent certain" the object was the missing bomb.

Astronauts On Way Home As Wild Ride Explained

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —With the cause of their wild space ride traced to a short circuit, the Gemini 8 astronauts completed a de-briefing period here today and flew home to a reunion with their families.

They flew to Cape Kennedy Saturday from the Pacific, where they splashed down Wednesday night in the first emergency landing in the U.S. man-in-space program.

While here, Armstrong and Scott huddled with experts, discussing performance of spacecraft systems during the flight that came to a sudden end after the astronauts had executed man's first hookup with another satellite.

Shortly after the linkup with an Agena, Gemini 8 began gyrating crazily in the sky, rolling and yawing. Command pilot Armstrong fought a desperate 30-minute battle to regain control, separating from the Agena and finally using an emergency jet thruster system to stabilize the spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced late Saturday that discussions with the astronauts and a study of radio and spacecraft tape recorder data located the trouble in one of Gemini 8's maneuvering jets. The problem, a statement said, probably was caused by a short circuit.

The faulty jet was No. 8, one of 16 main thrusters used for steering and for holding the craft steady. No. 8 produces a relatively small 25 pounds of thrust for yaw (sideways) control, but in the vacuum of space that's a pretty good kick.

The short circuit apparently occurred in a four-foot piece of wire that feeds electrical energy to the thruster. As a result, two solenoid valves stuck open and fuel and oxidizer poured freely through the opening, spilling into space and spinning Gemini 8 like a top.

About 200 pounds of fuel dumped into space in an 18-minute period and Armstrong used most of the remainder of the main fuel supply in trying to control the craft with the other jets.

Armstrong then had to switch to a separate control system normally used for re-entry. With fuel running low and no backup system remaining for the re-entry, it was mandatory that the astronauts return to earth as soon as possible.

The frightening moments were recorded by an automatic 16mm color movie camera mounted so it pointed out Armstrong's window. The film is an extraordinary record of a major space triumph and a near disaster.

It shows the steady, slow maneuvers of Gemini 8's nose as Armstrong zeroed in on the Agena 185 miles above the earth and gently nudged into a docking collar on the target satellite. The hitchup was flawless.

Suddenly, the combined vehicles began to spin, revealed by the quickening changes of light and dark. The Gemini nose quickly slipped out of the docking collar and moved away from the Agena. The spinning continued and then the film stopped abruptly — the camera out of film before the ship was brought under control.

Club Names Dance

"Parisian A-Go-Go" has been chosen as the title for the Terra Linda High School French Club's dance, to be held March 26 in the school gymnasium starting at 8 p.m.

Phone Hearings Slated March 29

The applications of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and Western California Telephone Co. to extend services between Novato, Ignacio and San Rafael exchanges will be heard once more by California Public Utilities Commission, March 29 in San Francisco.

Both companies seek to end toll service rates now in existence between the two exchanges. Monthly rates would go up, however.

Examiner at the hearing, scheduled for 10 a.m. in the commission courtroom at the state building, will be F. Everett Emerson.

Army In Indonesia Hamstrings Air Force

By JOHN CANTWELL

SINGAPORE (AP) — The Indonesian army has cracked down on the air force to prevent any attempt by the airmen to overthrow the new military regime, it was reported here today.

Travelers from Jakarta reported that the army arrested the former air force chief, Air Vice Marshal Suryadarma, last Friday. He was considered a Communist, the reports said.

Army troops occupied all airports over the weekend, slashing aircraft tires and removing vital parts from plane engines to prevent their use against the 10-day-old regime of army chief Lt. Gen. Suharto, the reports added.

Suryadarma was chief of the air force from its organization during the Indonesian revolution against the Dutch until January 1962, when he was replaced by Air Vice Marshal Omar Dhani. Suryadarma later was made telecommunications minister in President Sukarno's Cabinet.

Dhani was implicated in the attempted coup last October and reportedly fled to Cambodia. Air force bases reportedly were used as bases for some of the young Communists who were armed and trained in preparation for the coup attempt.

The Suharto regime has won full support from the powerful Nationalist party, which Sukarno founded, the official Radio Jakarta reported.

Radarman At Sea

Navy Radarman 3/c Robert W. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Harrison of 365 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, is back on station in the South China Sea after visiting the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong as a crew member of the fleet oiler Ashtabula.

Redwood Scholars To Be Honored

Members of the California Scholarship Federation and Honor Society at Redwood High School will be honored by the Sequoians at a meeting in the high school's little theater at 7:30 p.m. March 29.

Speaker will be Charles Mussatine, professor of English and chairman of a special selection committee on education at University of California at Berkeley. Muscatine is the author of a report submitted last week recommending sweeping operational changes at the Berkeley institution. He will discuss the problem of maintaining personalized teaching in a large university.

CHINA

"it is quite likely that we will witness as furious a succession struggle in China as we saw in the Soviet Union after the death of Stalin."

A second witness in the committee's continuing probe of China, Dr. Harold C. Hinton of George Washington University, noted Peking's sharp setbacks in the underdeveloped countries in the past year.

These setbacks, he said, have been so serious that it may well be that a major rethinking of Chinese foreign policy is in process, such as occurred in the Soviet Union after the Cuban missile crisis."

Zagoria saw the crisis having its roots in 1957 when Mao assumed that the development of Soviet ICBM capabilities had wrought a decisive change in the world balance of power.

Peking abandoned caution and embarked on a more militant course only to find that the Soviet Union "was unwilling to back Mao's ambitious aims at the risk of war with the United States."

Yesterday Senator Fulbright said the United States should drop its opposition to Red China's admission to the United Nations and move toward opening communications with Peking.

"We should withdraw our opposition to the seating of China," Fulbright said. But he added: "It may be too much for this administration, just before an election, to take that drastic step."

Fulbright gave his opinions on the Mutual Broadcasting System's "Reporters Roundup" radio program. Views similar to Fulbright's were expressed by 198 students of Asian affairs. In a policy statement, they called for U.N. membership for Red China, negotiations on the exchange of diplomatic representatives and an end to the trade embargo against mainland China.

The 198 represented most of those who responded to a policy statement mailed to 2,700 members of the Assn. for Asian Studies.

Adm. Ulysses S. Grant Sharp, commander of U. S. military forces in the Pacific, said the Chinese Communist have avoided the risk of a direct right with the United States.

In an interview in the U. S. News and World Report, Sharp said the United States "certainly ought to be prepared for anything," but added: "I don't believe that the Chinese are ready or really desire to take us on, or that we are itching on our part to have them do it."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said on the CBS television-radio program "Face the Nation" that the United States has continued its attempt to bring Hanoi and Red China into negotiations on Viet Nam "but the difficulty is the other side keeps hanging up the phone."

Rusk said the United States has held 129 meetings with Chinese Communist representatives in Warsaw. "We have been in touch with them on more serious subjects and more persistently than perhaps any government that has diplomatic relations with Peking except perhaps . . . the Soviet Union," he said.

But always, the secretary added, "we get no response."

Rusk made the statement yesterday during a television interview when asked about Sen. Jacob Javits' suggestion that the United States include Peking in any unconditional discussions to end the Viet Nam war.

Gasoline Bubbles Up From Ground

Corte Madera's Paradise Drive widening project, fertile ground for controversy, has been enriched by some 1,680 gallons of gasoline, it was discovered Friday.

Kurt and Werner Schardt, who operate the Mobil service station at El Camino and Paradise drives, called the fire department at 3:30 p.m. when the gasoline began to bubble up out of the ground in front of their place of business. The area was quickly flushed clear.

A check of their fuel storage tank showed only 120 gallons remaining instead of the 1800 there should have been. The Schardt Brothers said the leak occurred at a break in the pipeline from the storage tank to the fuel pumps. They estimated their loss at $500.

Kurt Schardt said that heavy construction equipment passing over the pipeline, which he claimed is buried only 10 inches deep, had caused the break.

Last November, motorists used the service station as a detour to bypass a 16-foot deep ditch dug for sewer relocation.

At that time, residents and businessmen in the vicinity bitterly protested to the town council about loss of business, inconvenience to traffic and damage to vehicles as a result of sinking, cracks and chuckholes on Paradise Drive caused by the sewer relocation project.

But Sunday Ky said that the government would not be influenced by "any form of disturbance" such as demonstrations and strikes.

The latest trouble began with the dismissal of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Cahnh Thi, a popular member of the ruling junta and commander of the five northern provinces composing the nation's 1st Military Corps.

Office Burglarized

Dr. James J. Garrett, told Corte Madera police Saturday that someone broke into his dental office at 81 Casa Buena Drive Friday night and stole $30 in cash and a portable radio and five hypodermic syringes valued at $70. Police said the burglar forced the lock on the office door.

Novato's Parks Costs On Agenda

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission will discuss its department's budget for fiscal 1967 when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

Edwards W. Adams, director, will submit his budget proposals.

The commission will also discuss tiny tot lots proposed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club. The county park bond issue, the Lynwood Park Maintenance District, the Rancho School park, and a proposed capital improvement program.

De Long Avenue Will Be Closed

De Long Avenue between Machin Avenue and Highway 101 in Novato will be closed to traffic for about 30 days, starting tomorrow to allow for cutting the street to its ultimate lower grade, said Lawrence A. Coleman, Novato director of public works.

Closing the street for one block will not change the sequence of the traffic signal on Highway 101, Coleman said. There will not be any traffic cross from Diablo to De Long, but traffic from Diablo will have to turn left or right onto Highway 101, he said.

TEEN

News in the Independent-Journal concerning Marin County teen-agers is generally bad news. Give the youngsters a column of their own in the paper.

Youngsters are concerned about the apparent disintegration of the family, as evidenced in mounting divorce rates. Offer family life classes, with sex and love education, from the start of school. Require the parents to take parallel adult courses covering the same subjects.

For the same reason, require a couple to see a marriage counselor before they can obtain a marriage license.

There were some things the youngsters did not want to see changed. The teen-agers specifically stated thay did not want repeal of the law banning marijuana or that setting a curfew for youngsters under 18.

These and other recommendations emanated from groups of students who met around the college campus during the eight-hour conference to discuss five topics—human relations, "you and the law," education, the family, and jobs.

The youngsters met in general session at the opening of the conference to hear speeches by Thomas W. Braden, president of the state Board of Education, Maj. Gen. Andrew R. Lolli, commander of the Western Air Defense Region, and Melvin Myler, president of the California Student Teachers Assn.

After the opening session, they split into five forum groups to hear speakers. Then members of each forum group broke into smaller discussion groups for the rest of the day. At a closing session recorders from each group summarized recommendations made by forum participants.

An evening banquet was addressed by Paul F. Lawrence, associate state superintendent of public instruction, and Thomas J. Hendrich, a senior at Diablo High School in Concord. The youngsters closed out the night with a rock and roll dance in the college gymnasium.

Other recommendations from the youth forums included:

Human relations—Open transfer should be allowed between school. Give a high school student in his junior year an option to study a year at an integrated school. Get integrated groups together to work together on matters not directly related to race relations. Expand the "head start" and tutoring programs. Get a YMCA group started in Marin City. Include Negro history in school history books. Encourage people to visit Marin City.

"You and the Law"—Punish the youngsters when they break little rules so they will not later break big laws. Parents should provide more training. Arrange instructional conferences with parents in the audience and youngsters on stage "telling them like it is." Remember, the policeman is working for us, not against us. Work more colsely with senior citizen groups.

Education—Students should be represented on curriculum advisory committees in school districts. A panel of administrators and teachers should decide on controversial issues, not the school boards. A Marin County Student Assn. should be formed. Schools should provide elective sex education courses.

Family—Organizations such as the YMCA and others should plan family activities. A panel of the Youth for Action Committee should make speaking engagements with clubs and organizations to explain the fear of youngsters for the institution of the family.

Jobs—Jobs are available but youngsters must go out and look for them. Automation will create as many jobs as it removes but they will be skilled jobs. Youngsters should stay in school to have a better chance for a job. More graduates should start their own businesses. There should be a television panel on youth problems. The industrial arts programs in high schools should be expanded. Youths going for job interviews should go well-dressed and prepared.

rights movement is bandwagonish. A few outspoken individuals jump on and they ride happily off into the sunset while the masses are left behind and in the very same condition which sent these few on to glory and oblivion."

Scott, who says he want to be a writer, won heavy applause when he said:

"I would say that the majority of the white residents of this county knows no more about Negroes than the image presented them by that alarmist newspaper the Independent-Journal and by the other sources of daily bad news . . .

"I can tell you nothing about the so-called Negro other than that he is a man and an individual. Though I am a Negro and proud of the fact that I am a Negro, I am not a race but a man."

Scott also told the students and adults they would not find a solution to race relation problems at a conference.

"What must be done, must be done by you, not as an organization, but as human beings and individuals. Destroy this fear of one another and there will be no need for civil rights movements or human relations conferences."

Scott was the last speaker of a panel which included San Francisco Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr.; Lanny Barry, Marin City consultant to the county social services department, and Rev. Wesley C. Baker of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael.

Brown told the perdominately youthful participants in the forum: "Race relations is not a Negro problem; it is a white problem. I can accept whites; they can't accept me."

Berry told the audience there is racial discrimination in Marin County. "A few Negroes who are obstinate and hard working enough may make it in the county," he said, "but our concern should be with the mass of Negroes. The future does not look as bright as we would like it to look."

Rev. Baker warned the youths that "human relations are honest, but not necessarily dignified."

FIRST GRASS FIRES OF YEAR REPORTED

Two grass fires were reported yesterday in southern Marin, the first of the new year.

Firemen received a call at 5:35 p.m. yesterday to go to Rodeo Avenue above Highway 101 where grass and brush, believed to have been set afire by a hiker, was burning.

Tamalpais firemen doused a grass fire in marshland area across from 200 Almonte Boulevard. The fire, not the first grass fire this year for Tamalpais firemen, was reported to have been started by children playing with matches.

Court Upholds Obscenity Law Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that publications designed entirely to appeal to "prurient interests" are not protected by the constitutional guarantee of freedom of expression.

With this ruling, delivered by Justice William J. Brennan, the court upheld a five-year prison term for Eros magazine publisher Ralph Ginzburg under a federal obscenity law.

Brennan said Ginzburg's conviction for mailing Eros and two other publications stand under the court's 9-year-old obscenity standard, known as the Roth ruling.

MAIN OPINION

Brennan wrote the high tribunal's main opinion in the Roth case in 1957. He said at that time that the test for obscenity was "whether to the average person, applying contemporary community standards, the dominant theme of the material taken as a whole appeals to prurient interests."

In another action today, the Supreme Court upheld the conviction of Edward Mishkin of New York, under the state's obscenity statute. But it ruled that the Massachusetts Supreme Judicial Court had erred in banning the 18th century story of a London prostitute known as "Fanny Hill."

Justice John M. Harlan, dissenting in the Ginzburg case, called today's ruling "an astonishing piece of judicial improvisation." He said that in upholding Ginzburg's conviction the court has added a new test —whether a distributor's aim is to pander to or titillate those to whome he mails questionable matter.

STATE'S POWER

This, he said, lifts First Amendment protection from material not obscene and calls for its examination "in the light of the defendant's conduct, attitude, motives."

Harlan said he had little doubt that states have under their police power the right to enact panderer statutes, but he objected that in effect this is what the court is doing today.

Brennan's majority opinion in the "Fanny Hill" case explained that in the Roth decision, and in later rulings, the high tribunal has said that three elements must "coalesce" in determining obscenity.

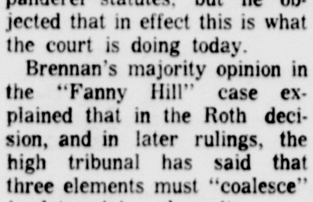

Service Station Use Before Hub Planners

Shell Oil Company's use permit request for a service station at 805 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard will come before the San Anselmo Planning Commission today. The commission will meet at 8 p.m. at the City Hall.

Marin 4-H Competition Leads To 13 Gold Medals

A crowd of 350 attended Marin's annual 4-H Club Field Day Saturday at Marion School in Novato, where 13 gold medal winners were selected for competition in the regional field day at Davis on May 14.

In addition, two clubs won gold medals for their talent show productions. The Tomales 4-H Club with its skit, "A 4-H Dream," and the Novato Jets 4-H with its "A. Ladd's Bright Night" were tops among six entries.

Individual winners, their clubs and their specialties were:

Kim Marks, Novato Olompali, feeds; Marian Baccoglio and Marian Camous, Novato Aggies, and Connie Connell and Joan Eischen, Miwok, clothing;

Air Police Trainee

Airman Thomas J. Windrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Windrick of 235 Butterfield Road, San Anselmo, has been assigned to Pope Air Force Base, N.C., after completing basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He will be trained on the job as an air policeman.

Clausen Seeks Research Money

Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, California, is seeking an additional $500,000 for Bureau of Sports Fisheries and Wildlife research projects at the Tiburon Marine Labratory during fiscal 1967.

Clausen pointed out that the east coast counterpart of the Tiburon facility, located at Sandy Hook, Mass., gets $464,000 for marine fisheries projects under the proposed budget compared to $88,000 for Tiburon.

Check Case Certified For Superior Court

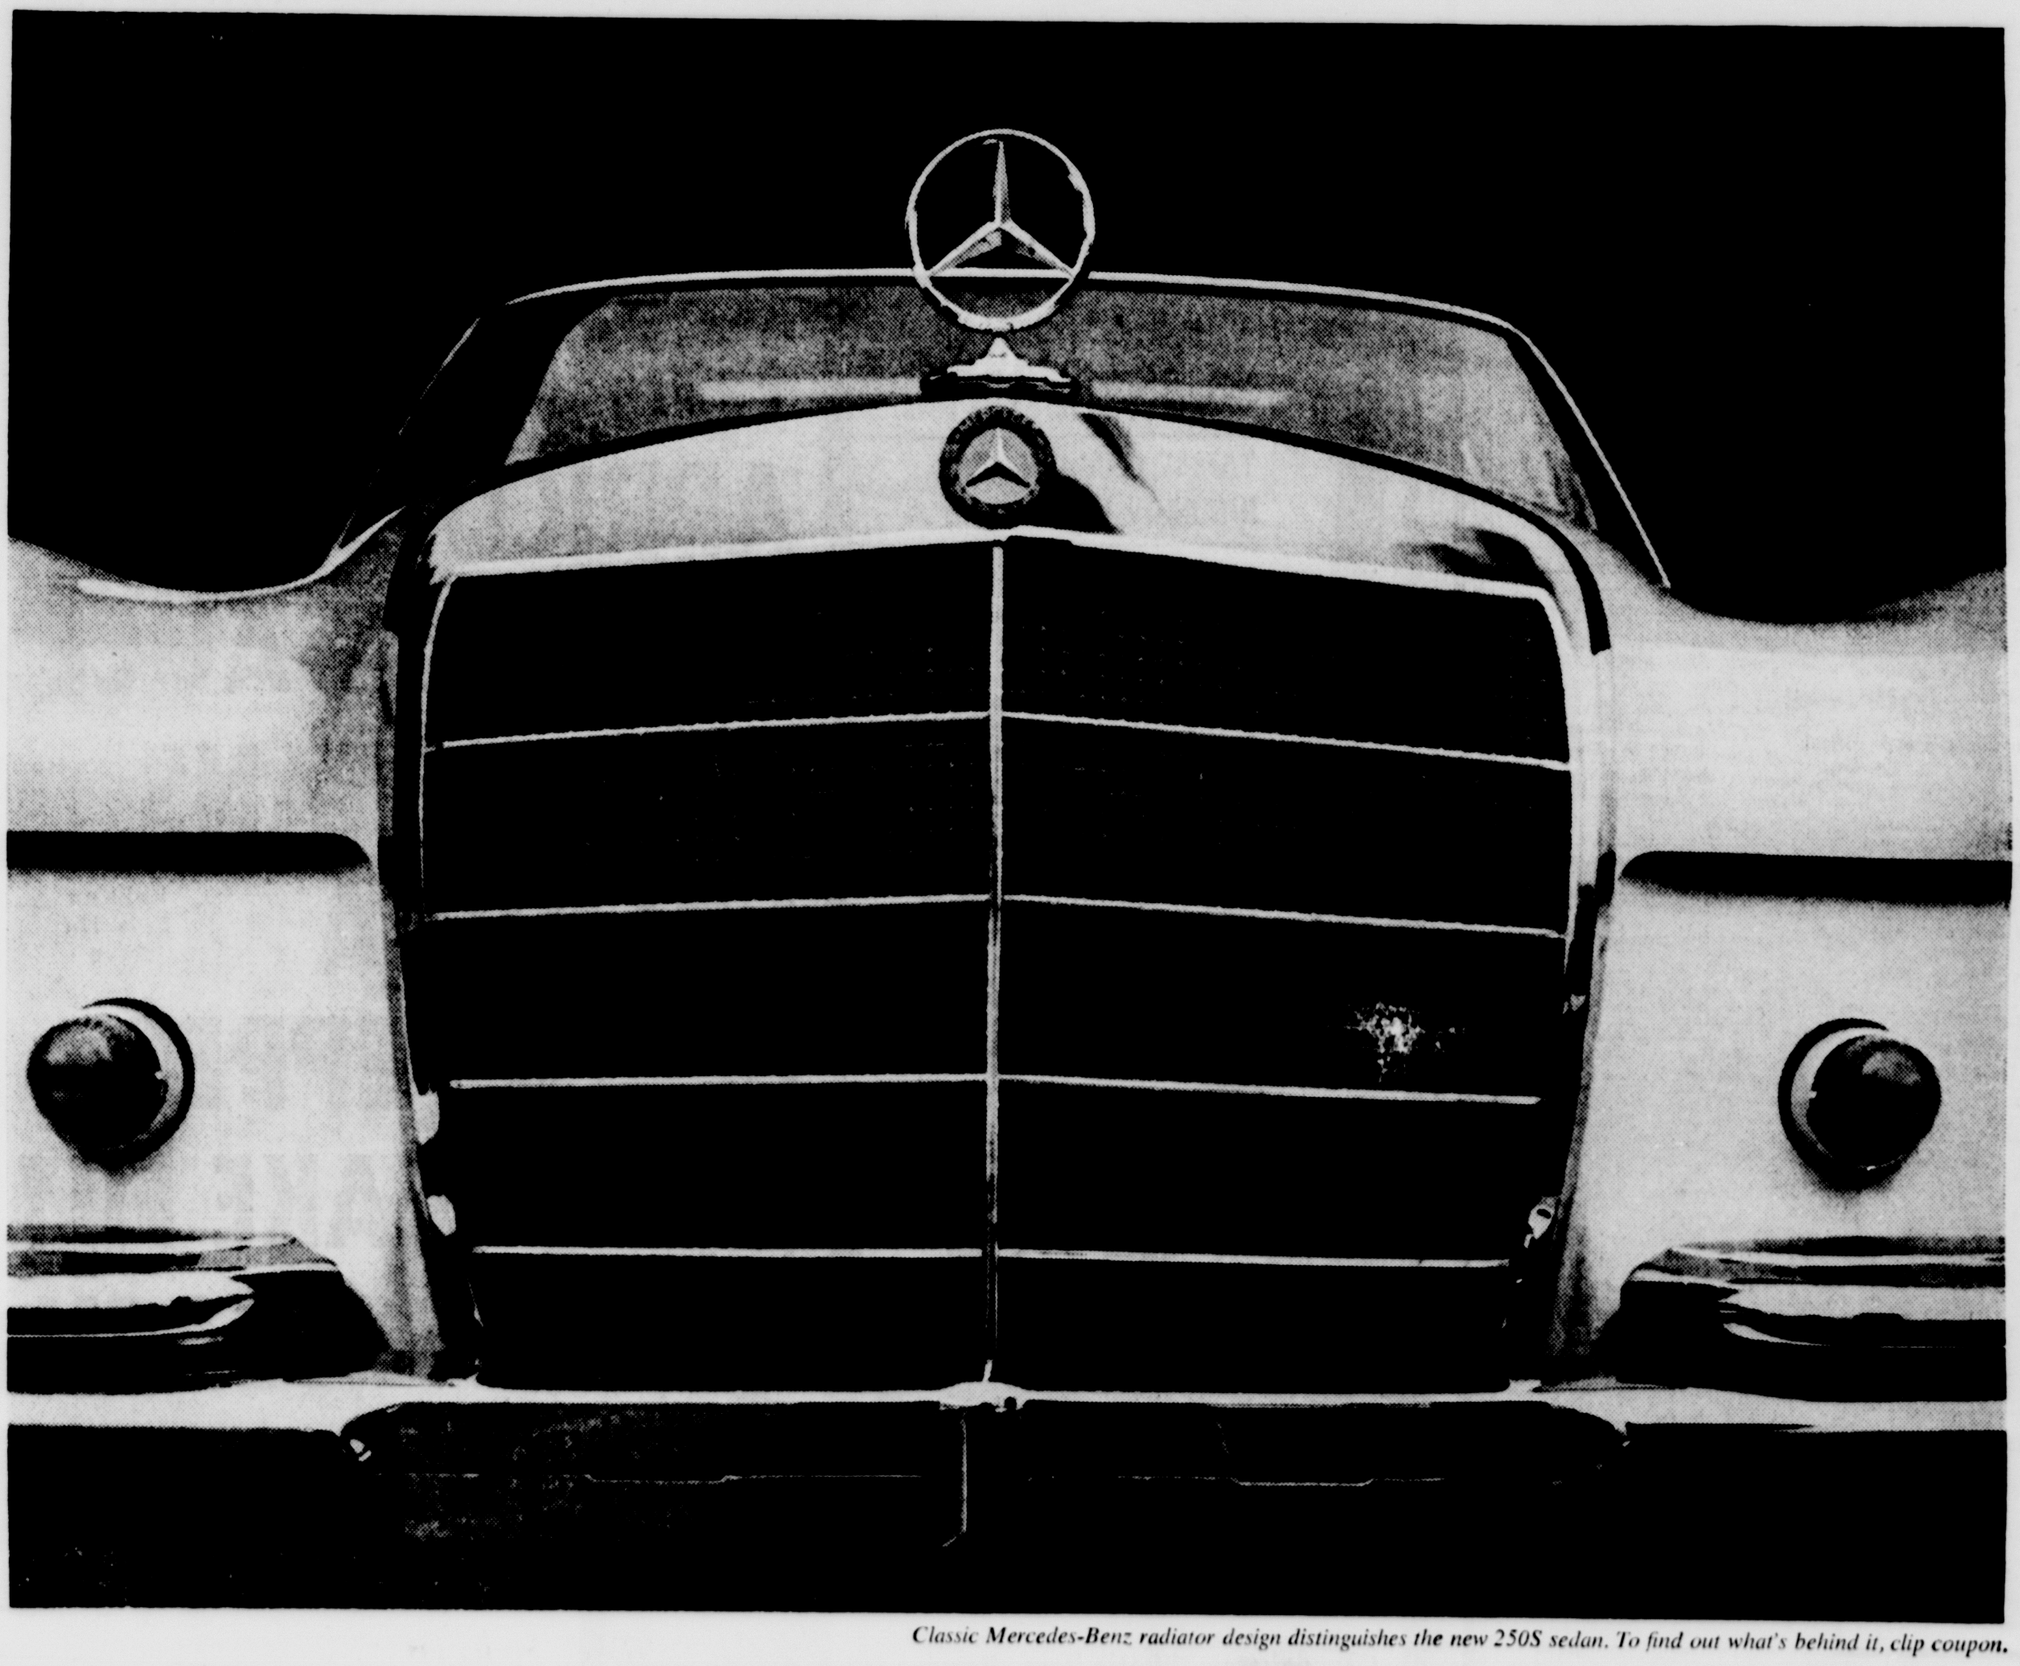

Belvia Jean Hennesey, 25, of Sacramento, waived preliminary hearing in Marin Municipal Court Friday on a charge of passing worthless checks. Judge Peter Allen Smith then certified her case to Marin Superior Court.

She allegedly passed a worthless $114.40 check Dec. 13 with intent to defraud the Emporium department store in the Northgate Shopping Center. She was arrested by sheriff's officers March 11.

Announcing the Mercedes-Benz 250S: the $6500 car without an ounce of fat

THE new 250S is an addition to the line, not a replacement. It outdates no current Mercedes-Benz. But it does nudge a few other $6500 cars into unplanned obsolescence.

About that price: it includes automatic transmission, power steering and brakes and many other extras. You can buy a 250S without frills for $5811.*

The new 250S body provides ample space for five—even a 21.5 cu. ft. trunk. But no useless bulk; it's a ton lighter and two feet shorter than the top 3 domestic "luxury" cars. And outpaces them as an athlete outpaces a gang of fat men.

Not a fat cat

The 250S emphasizes performance, not status. A major technical gain: 4-wheel disc brakes as standard equipment (a feature no domestic "luxury" car offers). Another forward stride: fully independent suspension. The 250S sticks to the road and you stick to your seat. A pleasant extra: a load-levelling spring at the rear axle. This ingenious device automatically adjusts to keep the car level, regardless of loads. No maintenance needed—and no extra cost.

Undercover story: The 250S body is made of sheet metal panels more than one millimeter thick, welded into a "unit" structure too tight to rattle. Before painting, it is daubed with zinc, shielded by 2 primer coats and slathered with 24 lbs. of undercoating. A solid guarantee of long life.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $23,245 to $4,065

Maybe you can afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Suggested retail prices* for 6 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models.

600 Grand Mercedes	$23,245
230SL Roadster	6,262
230S Sedan	4,900
230 Sedan	4,250
200 Diesel Sedan	4,280
200 Sedan	4,065

Quiet at 100 mph

For all its performance prowess, the 250S is a highly civilized car. "There is as little inside noise at 100 mph as at a standstill," reports New York Herald Tribune automotive columnist Leo Levine.

A 6-cylinder, single overhead camshaft engine delivers cruising speeds close to its 112-mph maximum—and an average fuel consumption rate of 20 miles per gallon.

Concern for safety

The deep Mercedes-Benz concern for safety continues in the 250S. Inside, possible danger spots are padded, recessed or made of pliable materials—and the rear-view mirror is spring-mounted in its socket. Front and rear body sections are designed to yield on impact, absorbing shock before it reaches the passenger area. Safety has dictated the design of every feature, from the steering assembly to the door locks to the roof supports.

Clip coupon for brochure

Bishop Pike Demands Rhodesia Sanctions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bishop James A. Pike of the Episcopal Diocese of California urged yesterday that the United States impose total economic sanctions on Rhodesia.

The bishop, returning from a sabbatical, told reporters the regime of Prime Minister Ian Smith had put more than 2,000 persons in detention camps as a means of promoting white supremacy.

Bishop Pike said that as a trained lawyer, he is offended "at the way they have thrown out the English common law."

"It's a completed iron heel," he said. "There's no room in the world for this sort of thing."

Before he became a churchman, the bishop was a lawyer and holds a doctorate in jurisprudence.

While studying at Cambridge University in England and in Israel during his sabbatical, the bishop attempted to visit the African country. He was put aboard an airplane the same day he arrived in Rhodesia and sent away.

Defunct Bank's Creditors Try To Open Replacement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comptroller of the Currency James J. Saxon announced today approval of plans for a new national bank in San Francisco which would replace the San Francisco National Bank which failed last year.

Organizers of the new bank are executives of five of the California savings and loan associations which are major creditors of the defunct bank, Saxon said.

Plans for the new bank, the comptroller added, have obvious advantages for all persons involved with the bank which failed as well as for the government and the city of San Francisco.

Raymond D. Edwards of Los Angeles, chairman of the new bank's organizing committee, said one purpose is to liquidate assets of the San Francisco National Bank from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

His group is acting in the interests of about 200 creditors of the insolvent bank.

The new bank's proposed name is the Banker's National Trust and Savings Co. Edwards said it will operate under the ownership and with the support of the insolvent bank's creditors.

The proposal must be approved b ythe FDIC and the U.S. District Court in San Francisco before it can be carried out.

Daniel W. Church, board chairman of Altadena Federal Savings; Herman Griffin, a director of Columbia Saving; Vernon Herbst, president of Hawthorne savings; and Charles K. Fletcher Jr., president of Home Federal Savings of San Diego.

The plan for liquidation of the old bank by its creditors instead of by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation was undertaken by the savings and loan group at the request of the committee of creditors, Edwards said.

Members of that committee are Gene Mortlock, chairman of First Federal Savings, New York City; Emil Mazey, representing the United Auto Workers; Fletcher and Edwards.

Credit unions, commercial banks, insurance companies, sa ings and loans and other companies and individuals hold certificates of deposit from the defunct bank valued at $20 million.

The new bank would acquire all the remaining assets of the San Francisco National Bank from the FDIC, and the bank's receiver and assume all of that bank's liabilities.

Edwards said the new bank then issue to each creditor a certificate of deposit for half of his claim and a certificate of contingent interest for the remaining half. This latter certificate could either be converted into stock in the new bank or sold by the creditor. Any payments over the original 50 per cent liquidation would be prorated to holders of contingent interest certificates.

Lincoln Parking Due Before Council Today

Parking will be banned between 4 and 6 p.m. on both sides of Lincoln Avenue from Second to Pacheco streets and on the north side of Third Street from Tamalpais Avenue to Cijos Street, if the San Rafael City Council tonight accepts recommendations of its traffic committee.

In addition, a two-hour time limit will be put on parking on both sides of Lincoln Avenue from Mission Avenue to Prospect Drive.

Still another traffic committee recommendation is for a boulevard stop sign on Vivian Way at Belvedere Street.

The council, meeting at 8 p.m. in the city hall, will open bids on traffic channelization on D Street at Meyer Road.

Public hearing is scheduled on rezoning of the Menzies property at 1428 Mission Avenue from single-family to multiple. The planning commission has recommended the rezoning. Part of the lot, on which one of San Rafael's oldest mansions stands, is already zoned multiple.

Up for final adoption will be ordinances prohibiting parking in private driveways but eliminating police enforcement for parking in privately owned lots, and amending animal control regulations to conform to the new county ordinance.

Bids are to be called for furnishing the new city hall.

The council will also have before it a letter from the San Rafael City Employees' Assn. asking an additional actuarial survey for updating the retirement system.

Novato Senior Group Installs New Slate

City Councilman J. Wayne Womack was installing officer.

ONE OF BEST IN UNITED STATES—This Ross home of William Cavalier Jr. has been chosen one of the 20 best designed houses built in the United States in 1965. The selection was made by editors of Architectural Record magazine. Enjoying one of several patios in the large house on Shady Lane is the Cavaliers' daughter, Aileen, 5. Two other Marin homes made the top 20 listing.

Three Marin Homes Among Best Designed In Nation

Of the 20 best designed houses in the United States last year, three were built in Marin County, according to the Architectural Record's editors, who made the selection.

Two of the houses were designed for use in subdivision developments. The other was a residence in Ross.

Architect Robert Martin Engelbrecht was commended for his development house designed for Simpson Timber Co., San Rafael.

It was called "extremely interesting" because, although designed to sell at a reasonable cost, it featured custom features, and a "notable use of wood for well-detailed entrance, stair and 'outdoor rooms.'"

Fisher - Friedman Associates and Robert J. Geering, associate, were given the magazine's award for a development house for Kenneth Fredericksen, Belvedere.

The magazine said the house was picked because of its reasonable price although it exploits the beauties and advantages of steeply sloping sites and has a "fresh contemporary design with steep roofs and shingle exterior."

Cut Wrist Treated

James Thomas, 80, of 608 B Street, San Rafael, was treated for a cut wrist about 7:30 a.m. Friday at San Rafael General Hospital, then transfered to Fort Miley Veterans Administration Hospital, San Francisco.

Swing Sets Broken

Corte Madera police reported today that vandals broke up child swing sets outside of Montgomery Ward and Co. store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center during the weekend. Police said they also found overturned trash cans and benches.

Hearing Slated On Zoning Law

Corte Madera Town Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the recreation room of the public safety building today, will hold a public hearing on a planning commission—approved series of amendments to the town zoning ordinance.

The ordinance changes began with re-examination of the highway commercial district but were expanded to include uses in other districts, sign space allotments, off-street parking requirements, and uses of nonconforming sites.

The council will also meet with the Corte Madera sanitary district board to consider an agreement to lease space in the remodeled town hall to the district. Plans call for the present sanitary district offices to be rented to the chamber of commerce at no charge.

PLAQUE FOR PAINTERS

Mrs. Allen Zeiss, president of Ross Hospital Volunteer Service, presents a plaque to San Quentin Prison in recognition of the part artists among the inmates have played in patient therapy. Prison artists have donated more than 40 paintings to the hospital's "Art a la Carte" service and several will be used for the service in the tuberculosis terrace. Accepting the plaque on behalf of the prison are Warden Lawrence E. Wilson (seated) and San Quentin's director of arts and crafts, Guenther E. Schmid.

Byron W. Leydecker will head the Marin County campaign for Thomas W. Braden, who seeks the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

Theft Victim Cowed By Intruders

John B. Borvenave awoke about 1 a.m. Saturday in his room at the Wilkins Hotel, 881 Fourth Street, San Rafael, and saw a small man walking out with his television set.

He got up and ran after him, only to find that the thief had an accomplice outside. The two men told Borvenave to get back in his room and keep quiet.

Borvenave did as he was told, he confessed sheepishly to police officers later, and the two men carried the TV set on out of the hotel.

He sat on his bed, frightened, for about an hour before tiptoeing downstairs to call the police. A few minutes later the police stopped two men on Fourth Street near the hotel, and Borvenave identified them as the thieves.

Booked at Marin County Jail were David L. Brewer, 24, and Manuel C. Luna, 36, both residents of the hotel. They were charged with burglary and held in lieu of $3,300 bail. They were due to appear in Marin Munipal Court Monday for arraignment.

Jammed Pedal Causes Wreck

William B. Hyer Friday was driving his car out of a parking place in the 800 block of Grant Avenue, Novato, when the accelerator got stuck.

The car shot across the street, went onto the sidewalk, knocked down a sign and a tree and then rammed a parked car, pushing it into still another parked auto.

Hyer, 69, of 714 Orange Avenue, Novato, was uninjured, but his wife, Gertrude Hyer, was treated for bruises at Novato General Hospital. Novato police said the first parked car was owned by George T. Spark of 126 Beattie Road, Novato. It was pushed into one owned by Dovie L. Woody of 593 Louis Drive, Novato.

Tenants Picket Landlord Outside Strawberry Home

A half dozen pickets Saturday marched outside the Strawberry home of Dudley Knill as part of a protest over rents charged in apartment houses his firm leases in San Francisco.

Knill, with his wife, Lois, became heros of a Malvina Reynolds folksong when they almost came to blows with a subdivider who was cutting trees near their home at 421 Strawberry Drive.

The pickets, part of the Mission Tenants Union of San Francisco, claimed Knill was really a heavy, responsible for raising rents from $60 to $115 a month. The rent strike is four months old, and eviction proceedings have started.

Jewelry Stolen

Dallas A. Brown of Oakland reported yesterday two diamond rings, worth $300 each, and a $40 rhinestone ring, were discovered missing from an apartment he has at 215 Bayview Street, San Rafael. He said they may have been taken any time since last Oct. 17.

Future Farmers Will Help Send Delegate To Europe

The Tomales High School chapter of Future Farmers of America plans to help send its prize-winning former president to Europe.

Wayne R. Parks of Tomales, now a freshman at California State Polytechnic College in San Luis Obispo, is one of 52 Future Farmers from California selected to make a 25-day European people-to-people tour in June.

The California farm youth will inspect agricultural operations, working conditions and methods in both eastern and western European farms. The delegation will visit Scotland, England, Denmark, Sweden, Switzerland, East and West Berlin, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

To help defray some of his personal expenses on the tour, the FFA chapter will present him a portion of the proceeds of its spring trap shoot next Sunday at Valley Ford in Sonoma County.

Parks was president of the chapter last year and at the same time was student body president at Tomales High School. An honor student and life member of the California Scholarship Federation, he was an outstanding athiete at Tomales High, winning both football and basketball letters.

WAYNE R. PARKS
People-to-people tour

At Cal Poly, Parks is continuing to display the leadership qualities that last spring brought him the California Bankers Assn. $400 scholarship award and the DeKalb Feed Co. award for outstanding work in the chapter. He is the freshman representative for his 2,000 classmates on the Student Affairs Council. He is now on tour with the college glee club.

He is studying agricultural engineering at the college. His father, Roy A. Parks, is the third generation to operate the 350-acre ranch a half mile north of Tomales.

Vandals Deface JFK Memorial

RUNNYMEDE, England (AP) —Vandals defaced the Kennedy Memorial yesterday for the third time.

In two-inch-high letters the names Andy and Dell were carved in to the massive block dedicated to the late American president.

William Rixon, the national trust warden who looks after the stone for the Kennedy Memorial trust, said:

"The memorial is left completely open to the public and you have to rely on the public's decency and honesty. Unfortunately we cannot keep a 24-hour watch. People seem to be doing this for kicks."

Drunken Driving Sentences Heard

Edward Ervin Mitchell, 28, of 416 Maple Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, was fined $276, sentenced to five days in county jail, and placed on a year's probation in Marin Municipal Court Friday for drunken driving with a prior conviction.

He was arrested by Mill Valley police on Miller Avenue on Sept. 4.

Emy Lou Fleming, 40, San Francisco, was fined $220 and placed on six months probation for drunken driving. She was arrested on Tiburon Boulevard by sheriff's officers Feb. 6.

Novato Downtown Collision Hurts One

Robert Williams, 33, of 1139 Rosalia Drive, Novato, suffered a neck strain and bruised left hand Saturday in a two-car collision on Grant Avenue, Novato.

Police said Williams was backing out of a parking space when his car collided with one driven by Ona Radke, 60, of 1384 Donna Street, Novato, at 12:58 p.m. Williams was treated at Novato General Hospital.

Boys Discovered Taking Gasoline

Mr. and Mrs. Everett D. Thomas of 21 Staghound Passage, Corte Madera, drove onto their block at 1:30 a.m. yesterday and found two boys syphoning gasoline from the car of Richard T. Rice at 32 Staghound Passage.

The Thomases called police, who found a car containing two 17-year-old boys, one from Ross and one from Corte Madera, and three cans of gasoline nearby.

Police made the boys return the gas to Rice and apologize, then drove them home and sternly reprimanded them.

New Lane Markers Are Boon To Night Driving

A new type of reflective marker that clearly defines lanes on our highways is a boon to night driving, especially in wet weather.

The standard white stripes are effective in daylight and adequate at night if the pavement is dry.

But on dark and rainy nights, the white lines suddenly vanish, and motorists wallow from lane to lane like blind sailors on an uncharted sea.

We've all had the terrifying experience of wondering whether we were still on the highway, let alone in the correct lane.

Fortunately, freeway builders have come up with the new markers that are slightly raised, just enough to rumble under the tires but not enough to affect the driving.

The new markers have been installed in all lanes of the Golden Gate Bridge. The state plans to extend these pavement markers over the Waldo Grade from the bridge to Marin City.

No doubt the new system of marking lanes is more expensive than the standard striping that is in current use. But the cost should be well compensated by increased driving safety and smoother flow of traffic.

We hope the new markers will replace the outdated lines over Marin highways as quickly as is economically feasible.

It's Time To Prevent Poisoning Accidents

Few of us get excited about poison prevention, until our youngster or a neighbor's youngster becomes violently ill or dies from accidentally swallowing some innocent-looking liquid around the house.

The Marin County Pharmaceutical Assn., in conjunction with the Marin County Medical Assn., takes the occasion of National Poison Prevention Week (March 20 to 26) to launch a safety campaign.

They have listed these rules to follow:

Potential killers include cleaning solvents, insecticides, paint thinners, detergents, bleaches, paints, anti-freeze solutions, oven cleaners, lighter fluid, shoe polish and household ammonia.

Thirty-five Marin pharmacies, participating in National Poison Prevention Week, will distribute free to adults only, one ounce bottles of Ipecac Syrup upon request during this week. Ipecac Syrup is considered the ideal emetic (agent to induce vomiting) for treatment of poisoning.

Let's use an ounce of prevention instead of an ounce of Ipecac.

Taxpayers Foot Tahoe Sewer Bill While Gamblers Watch The Dice

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Governor Brown should be congratulated on his action in scrounging a promise out of the federal director of economic development that a grant of $3,142,000 will be made to the South Tahoe Public Utility District to expand sewage treatment plant facilities and export effluent into Alpine County.

The governor said the entire project of getting the job done would cost $4,292,000, and plans are to have the state of California loan the district $1,150,000.

THE INTERJECTION of federal and state money into this project is based somewhat on the matter of cleaning up Lake Tahoe, keeping this crystal clear body of water from becoming just another blot on the landscape.

While the project of keeping the lake, one of the few beauty spots left in the nation, in its state of natural attractiveness, it might be well for the taxpayers to review the situation a bit, to determine how they are footing bills caused by the expansions of one small element of the population.

ORIGINALLY, LAKE Tahoe was a vacation spot, used by the public to spend a few leisurely days in the grandiose atmosphere of nature at her finest. The season was short, about four months a year. Vacationers and campers made the most of these summer months.

Then came the Nevada gamblers. From a small Quonset hut, to towering hotels rose the edifices catering to the pleasures of man. On the California side, countless motels were built to accommodate not the vacationers, but the people who traveled to Tahoe to frolic with the whimsical goddesses of chance.

Although gambling is conducted only on the Nevada side of the line, the sewage problem grew on both sides. More than two years ago Governor Brown met with officials of this state and Nevada to start the wheels moving for solving the problem.

NOTHING MUCH was done about it, except to make studies. Meanwhile, the threat to the lake took on momentum.

So now, the state of Nevada, whose residents were responsible in the beginning, is "off the hook" as far as the overall problem is concerned.

And the taxpayers of the state of California will have the dubious honor of putting up more than a million dollars.

The taxpayers of the entire United States are also honored to the extent of $3,142,000 contributing to solving of the sewage problem.

AS FAR AS THE gamblers are concerned, they will continue to watch the dice roll and the profits walk in, with expanding casinos and more visitors every year, without contributing financially to the chore of solving a problem which is a direct result of their activities.

It might appear somewhat ironical to taxpayers of California, and the nation, that they are getting tapped for the greater part of the bill. And it might appear even more ironical to the taxpayers of California that there is no apparent contributions to the cause from the state of Nevada, which legalizes the lush palaces of chance next to the California line.

Beautification Makes For Profit

Editor, Independent-Journal:

San Anselmo's City Council took a step forward in their recent endorsement of a new location for our peripatetic New Street in the (new) Downtown Center Plan proposed by the Planning Commission.

It was a disappointment, however, that they failed to endorse beautification of the creek and landscaping of Parking Lot "A" in their motion. Both of these concepts were included in the Planning Commission's report, and must be part of any realistic program to revive the downtown area.

A professional planner at the Congress for Community Progress remarked that San Anselmo businessmen who are worried about sales losses should study the shopping centers which are draining shoppers away from them; they will find, the planner said, that the shopping centers spend money in a variety of ways to make themselves attractive. The principle they have learned is that, in the retail sales business, beautification is profitable.

Flood Cartoon Draws Complaint

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your issue of Tuesday, March 15 had an editorial cartoon of flood control which provokes this letter. I wish to criticize it on two levels; quality and content.

For quite some time I have been something less than an admirer of Paul Miller's work. I think his drawings are thoroughly unprofessional and should be embarrassing to any publication conscious of its status. He may be a personally admirable gentleman and, if it turns out that he is handicapped or draws with his feet I shall of course be embarrassed. Nevertheless, were he blind and my own brother I would be compelled to say that, in my humble opinion, he is a bad cartoonist. Other than that my best to him.

Now as to the content of the cartoon which reflects the policy of the I-J. I think this almost prayerful solicitation of another flood is in very bad taste and an unfortunate appeal to emotionalism. I have attended several meetings and session on the flood control program over the years it has been developing. Lately I get the impression from certain public officials that the so-called phase one of the project would do little to correct the existing situation. That the fate of the upstream phases are either in doubt or consigned to the dim future and that the real problem stems partly from development and partly from carelessness in maintenance of the upstream channel. I cannot see how this project, which is terribly expensive, can be justified if it is not going to correct anything. Whose purpose does it serve?

I concede that the Independent-Journal has a perfect right to take any stand it chooses on any issue. I also feel that since the Independent-Journal has a virtual monopoly on news dissemination in Marin County, it has an implicit duty to reflect that opinion or judgment with which it may disagree and I hope you will print this letter in that spirit.

One Has Right To Question War

Editor, Independent-Journal:

. . . The news media proclaim loudly that everybody, well almost everybody, is for LBJ's war to bring democracy to the people of Asia and save them from a fate worse than death, namely communism. But I find it hard to believe because I find it difficult to find anyone really liking this war.

I think most people are puzzled, perplexed and frustrated. They don't know what it is all about, and our elected representatives in Congress have neglected their responsibility to discuss this vital matter and enlighten us. Our executive government has been caught in telling us distortions, half truths and outright lies, so one no longer knows whom or what to believe.

. . . The insidious campaign to brand anyone who questions the merit of this war with being a communist and fellow traveler, stills many a voice whose livelihood and family welfare might be jeopardized by the honest expression of their views about this war. McCarthyism again rears its ugly head. . . .

I take issue with those who say that opponents of the war are dupes of communists. I believe it is those in government who are forcing this war on the American people who are really the dupes of communists. For it is the people who use McCarthyan tactics to discredit the sincerity of people protesting this war, who are really serving the cause of communism, for their action assures that we will be irrevocably committed to a land war in Southeast Asia. . . .

To embroil the U.S. in a frustrating endless war in other expendable peoples land is the real Communist conspiracy. . .

Democracy imposes on everyone the obligation to speak out and also respect the opinions of others. Let us speak out while we can. Soon it may be too late.

Outsider Hits Parking Tickets

Editor, Independent-Journal

I read in your letter column with regard to the San Anselmo night parking law: " . . . as for the argument of overnight guests being forced to park their cars off the street, I cannot believe an officer of our fine police force would tag a vehicle for being parked on the street if a note were left on the windshield explaining the circumstances, and there was truly no other place to park."

The police do ticket even when a note is left explaining the circumstances of no off street parking facilities. I had no other place truly to park but the street the evening of March 6 when I left a note for the friendly San Anselmo policeman. The next morning in place of the note I found a pink parking ticket.

It is a sad law that requires punishment be forced on out of town visitors for no fault of their own. As an outsider perhaps I should not comment further about the letter. I understand enough of those pink slips recently have been distributed in San Anselmo so that you probably will hear from many others.

GERMAN Chancellor Erhard admits frankly that he has consistently modeled his political career on that of Winston Churchill. So slavish has been his devotion, in fact, that the last time he was greeted by a crowd on a visit to London he grinned broadly and held up three fingers. Later he was asked what the three fingers were supposed to signify. Erhard answered, "WICTORY."

THE PALACE, on Broadway, has gone legitimate, now housing a great big musical hit called "Sweet Charity." Old vaudeville buffs, however, are disconsolate. They remember when the Palace was the theater every vaudeville actor in the country dreamed of playing in before he hung up his spangles. When the new weekly bill opened on Monday afternoon, the audience was more glamorous than El Morocco or "21" at the height of the season.

When the Palace first opened in 1913, Ed Wynn was on the bill, with France's renowned Sarah Bernhardt soon to follow. Mme. Bernhardt had the reputation — but the Palace audiences didn't dig her at all. Later came Norah Bayes, Eva Tanguay, Nazimova, Fanny Brice, W. C. Fields, George Jessel, Eddie Cantor, Burns and Allen, "Bojangles" Robinson—not to mention Mrs. Pat Campbell and Broadway columnist Louis Sobol. They all loved the Palace—and joined in the lamentations when talking movies spelled doom for the old two-a-day in 1932.

In This New Labor Relations Age Worker Is No Longer Underdog

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the new generations it won't be long before the agony of American labor and the turmoil, often bloody, between labor and industry seems as remote as covered wagons and Wyatt Earp.

Some of the giants of American labor in the 20th Century already have passed into history, dying at a time when labor-management relations had become almost serene compared with the past.

TIME HAS taken its toll of others, still alive. Getting too old for the burdens of leadership, they have stepped aside.

John L. Lewis, with brows so bushy they made his eyes look like caverns, could snarl like a cat, roar like a lion, invent the sit-down strike, defy the government, and plague the coalmine owners.

In the end he got along fine with them. He recognized the inevitability of labor-saving machinery in the coal mines, and when West Virginia University awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of laws in 1957 he was described as "the foremost labor statesman in the world."

HE HAD HEADED the United Mine Workers for 40 years, and in between times the Congress of Industrial Organizations. But time caught up with him and he began fading from the picture in the 1950s. Now he visits the UMW's headquarters here perhaps once a week. He's 86 now.

And this week another one of the giants, David Dubinsky, announced he will retire April 12 as president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union which he has headed 34 years.

He is 74 and he wiped his eyes with a handkerchief as an assistant read the resignation.

When he took over the union in 1932 the garment workers were in a sweatshop industry.

UNDER HIM it became a wealthy union with excellent contracts that provided the first garment-industry agreement on a 35-hour week, an employer-contributed pooled fund for workers' vacations, health and welfare funds, retirement funds, and severance pay.

But already gone from the scene were such men as Philip Murray, William Green, Sidney Hillman.

Murray, head of the CIO, died 14 years ago at 66. Green headed the American Federation of Labor from 1924 until he died 14 years ago at 79. Hillman was not only extremely active in the labor movement as head of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers but was also active in serving the government during the war. He died 20 years ago at 59 after heading the clothing workers since 1915.

BUT WHAT the younger generations of Americans are seeing now is a rather placid labor movement with much of the steam out of it as new leaders, well-paid, sit on their hands and fail to organize the unorganized.

But also, labor has made such gains since the 1930s and has such power now to cripple the country, it has lost much of the sympathy it had when it was strictly the underdog and the various managements acted as if the Middle Ages would never end.

Now when labor strikes, particularly in an industry directly affecting the public welfare, like transportation or steel, it has to watch its step lest Congress finally forbid such strikes and replace them with compulsory arbitration.

Job Corps Center Will Be Disbanded

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Congressional machinery is being set in motion with the aim of dismantling the trouble-racked Job Corps training centers.

Over a three-to-four-year period, these costly and controversial anti-poverty projects would be replaced with a nationwide program of on-the-job training for unemployed and underprivileged youths. They would work alongside regular employees in private plants, factories, shops, offices, to learn a wide range of trades, crafts and services.

THAT'S THE AMBITIOUS plan of Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., chairman of the House subcommittee in charge of drafting the new $1.75 billion anti-poverty legislation.

He claims President Johnson approved it after discussing it with him, also that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., head of the House Labor Committee, of which Gibbons' subcommittee is a part, favors it. And Dr. Joseph Kershaw, in charge of research and planning at OEO (the anti-poverty agency), indicates they are leaning that way.

If Gibbons' proposal is enacted by Congress, Job Corps centers would gradually be shut down and their funds shifted to on-the-job training. However, not all Job Corps camps would be eliminated; some rural camps, such as those devoted to conservation training, might be retained.

AS ENVISIONED by Gibbons, most job training opportunities would be in construction and service occupations. Highway building is viewed as a major field. One suggestion is that contracts for the government's huge interstate highway system require the inclusion of job-training clauses.

Numerous repair services are deemed another "prolific" source of job-training opportunities. Gibbons holds that thousands of trainees could be put to work in automobile, radio-TV, appliance and other repair shops and service centers.

Similarly, he sees "countless opportunities for training" as hospital, laboratory and nursing aides, teachers' assistants, and welfare and probation workers. He points out that Health-Education-Welfare Undersecretary Wilbur Cohen estimates that 10,000 new jobs open each month in the medical field alone.

More than $235 million is available this year for the Job Corps. Gibbons notes as significant that only 21,000 youths are enrolled in the 95 camps in operation, and some of them are running below capacity. The average cost to the government is approximately $6,000 per trainee a year.

IT IS GIBBONS' emphatic contention that his on-the-job training plan would be far more productive at considerably less cost. As proof, he cites the following figures:

If a 20-hour-a-week training level is fixed, at $1.25 an hour, the cost per trainee would be $1,300 a year. Thus, 100,000 youths could be trained for $130 million a year. This would mean that five times as many unemployed and underprivileged youths could get actual job experience than are now enrolled in Job Corps camps—for $100 million less to taxpayers.

Such a major fund shift also could drastically affect another key anti-poverty program.

This is the hotly controversial $600 million Community Action program that seeks to involve the poor in various local projects for the avowed purpose of bettering their economic and social conditions.

Kershaw indicates that OEO policy-makers are considering sharply curtailing Community Action projects. Mentioned particularly is the employment of poor as so-called neighborhood organizers to stimulate and recruit participation of the poor in anti-poverty projects.

Columnist Loses His Hot Air And Finds A Way To Fill Space

That gem is from the filler collection of Richard V. Godino, Marin's assistant county counsel. He has been collecting for several years, and he has avoided specialization.

Fillers, as you probably know, are the paragraphs of type used by compositors to fill out newspaper columns when reporters run out of gas or hot air.

IT IS UNUSUAL to find a long-time collector who has not specialized. Most end up looking for just one type of filler such as the animal filler, geographical fillers or fillers of studied inconsequence.

That filler about the astronomers falls into the provocative classification. It makes you wonder what those fellows have been doing with their evenings.

If anything, the Godino collection is slightly weighted toward the inconsequential fact classification. Among his most prized in this group are:

"THE GULF STREAM runs faster in the summer than in the winter."

"Catharine the Great was the first person in Czarist Russia to be inoculated against smallpox."

The only thing in my collection that comes close to that smallpox thing is this recent acquisition:

"Eau de Cologne perfume was first produced in Cologne, Germany, in 1907."

BUT WHEN IT comes to facts you simply don't have to know, the smallpox thing has the Cologne thing spotted 10 to one.

Godino, ever ready to put his clips on the table, has also a morbid fascination with the terror filler. This is one of his leaders:

"Running polar bears have been timed at 25 miles per hour. A man, running a mile in four minutes, is traveling at 15 miles an hour."

There is a filler that makes you stop and stare. Who among us can run a mile in eight minutes, let alone four minutes? Who among us can still run?

IN MY COLLECTION there is a filler that almost matches Godino's fast bear filler.

"Elephants prefer wooded areas."

This is a sleeper. At first you might think it just another inconsequential fact filler, having significance only to elephants. But if you happen to live next to a wooded area, as I do, then the filler takes on a frightening aspect that puts it high up in the terror category.

IN FACT, I am willing to give this filler away, just to get it out of my sight. It can be added to the Godino collection. The only thing I ask in exchange is that Washington astronomer filler.

There must be a story there. Since 1921? My, my!

ART BUCHWALD

Tossed Out Diplomats, Presidents Get To Be Presidents, Diplomats

WASHINGTON—The rumor is that General Thi who was just kicked out of the South Vietnamese government has been offered a diplomatic post abroad. Not long ago the Dominican Republic government insisted that all its enemies from the left and right take embassy jobs in other countries. If the trend continues, the entire diplomatic corps will soon be made up of opposition leaders who can't go home.

It's started already. I was at a diplomatic reception the other night and I overheard several diplomats talking.

"Alfredo, what are you doing in Washington?" one of them asked.

"I tried to overthrow my government, so they made me ambassador to the United States."

"Tough luck."

"WELL IT'S better than being shot."

"That's the way I feel," the other replied. "Besides, there's always a chance if my president gets overthrown I can go back."

Wasn't your president the former ambassador to the United States?"

"That's right. We threw him out in the revolution of July 23. But he made friends here with the CIA and came back in the revolution of November 14. When I was captured he offered me Paris or Washington. I was in Paris right after the 1959 coup, so I thought I'd try Washington this time."

"At least he gave you a choice."

"WHY SHOULDN'T HE? He made me promise if I overthrew him he would become the ambassador to Switzerland. He wants to be near his money."

"Isn't that Gen. Rinaldo over there? General, what are you doing here?"

"I'm the second secretary in the embassy, and let me tell you, my friends, they have not heard the last of me."

"Why is that?"

"I was the foreign minister in the last government and should have been made first secretary. But they made the minister of justice first secretary because I was out of the country at the time the junta took over. I was tried in absentia."

"THAT'S SHOCKING. A man of your rank being made second secretary."

"You can say that again. But when my party takes over, I'm going to make the present foreign minister consul general to Ghana."

"Will the Americans let you do it?"

"Did you hear about Arturo?"

"No, what happened?"

"When the revolutionists took over, they discovered he had taken $10 million out of the country."

"WHAT DID they do to him?"

"What else could they do to him? They sent him to the United Nations."

"Serves him right," the ambassador said.

"I wouldn't be that harsh. It could have been one of us."

"I think the Africans have a much better solution to their revolutions."

Marinites Back Grape Strikers

A group of Marin residents seeking to aid grape pickers striking ranches near Delano has called for picketing local stores selling products of the Delano growers.

Peter Rockwell of 340 Cypress Drive, Fairfax, chairman of the strategy committee of Marin Friends of Delano Grape Strikers, said a negotiating committee would first speak to merchants, asking them to remove the products from their shelves.

Informational pickets will be placed at stores which do not cooperate, he said. Specifically included in the drive would be products of Schenley Industries and table grapes from Delano.

Education Board Due To Consider Hiring

The San Rafael Board of Education Tuesday will hold its annual closed meeting on evaluating teachers for re-employment.

Originally scheduled for this week, the meeting will force postponement of the next regular session to March 30, according to Supt. Bert C. Corona.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Scramble To Get Into College Led To Grade Padding In East

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The New American Dream of "college for everybody" has forced high school teachers and administrators into some strained and strange positions.

Last year, it brought a blast from the California Teachers Assn. against grading practices which, the association complained, penalized the brightest college-bound students by placing them in accelerated classes, then grading them on the same curve used in slower classes.

ABOUT THAT same time, Hillel Black, writing in Pageant magazine, charged that "a shallow-viewing coalition of parents and schools is ruining the average high school student's education" by placing emphasis on passing college entrance tests instead of on the body of information prescribed in high school curriculums.

The ultimate in distortion of educational aims to meet the demand to "get my boy into college" was disclosed more recently in New York City.

There, a dozen high schools were found to be falsifying transcripts of credits to make it easier for graduates to gain college admission.

This practice was brought to light by the University Application Processing Center at Brooklyn College, set up to prepare computerized college transcripts for students atending 40 of New York City's 60 academic high schools.

MOREOVER, officials of the city school system were aware of what was going on, and condoned it by inaction. The New York Times quoted Harold Zuckerman, coordinator of college guidance and scholarships for the New York Board of Education, as saying the cheating was a "matter of policy that has to be clarified."

The practice, as uncovered by the University Application Processing Center and publicized by the Times, involved a policy of the high schools of simply not recording failures on transcripts prepared for the colleges. "Also," reported the Times, "in two-term courses, students who fail thef irst term and pass the second are given passing marks for the first term's work."

Louis M. Heil, director of the processing center, said, "It means the difference between kids getting into the city university or being rejected."

Times reporter Martin Tolchin discovered that admissions officers of some private colleges and universities were aware of the practice and viewed transcripts from the cheating high schools with appropriate skepticism. Officials of the City University of New York may have been aware also, but the law requires them to accept high school transcripts at face value, thus virtually making them parties to the falsehoods.

NEW YORK CITY is not the only place where high school teachers and administrators have turned cheats to "help the kids get into college." Last fall, an investigation at Hillhouse High School in New Haven, Conn., uncovered similar practices there. The school's clerks testified that when a student had B and C marks for different periods of the same subject, only the B's were used in preparing transcripts for college.

The squeeze by college-hungry parents which turned weak-minded school officials into cheats and liars in New York and Connecticut apparently has not reached such a stage in California. A spot survey of school administrators have turned up none who had heard of such a practice in this state—although one county superintendent commented that he suspected something of the same kind had been done in years past to assure eligibility for athletic stars.

That it has not reached such a stage here may be due less to greater inherent honesty among California parents and schoolmen than to the state's junior college system. California's three-score junior colleges must admit all high school graduates, thus removing some of the need for that magic "B."

HOWEVER, enough California parents—more interested in the symbol than the substance, it would appear—insist that their offspring get into universities or "name" colleges to provide the pressure that called forth the California Teachers Assn. complaint.

"Since major institutions of higher education . . . do not distinguish between marks regardless of level or difficulty of the classes, there is no question that many students who take accelerated high school courses suffer when they seek college admission and scholarships," the CTA reported.

A MAJORITY of high schools, the association found in a survey, figure the students in advanced classes should make A or B grades, and transfer those who fail to do so; but many others grade these classes on the same curve as slower ones, making a C in an accelerated class often equivalent to an A in a regular class.

Novato Park Jobs

Applications for summer employment with the Novato parks and recreation department are available at the city hall until March 31, according to Thomas Menasco, recreation supervisor. Jobs will be available for playground leaders, life guards and cashiers. Applicants must be at least 18 years of age.

Mill Valley Garbage Costs On City Agenda

The Mill Valley Refuse Co. will request a 55 cent raise per can in garbage rates for residential service at a meeting of the Mill Valley City Council at 8 p.m. today in city hall.

The council also plans to discuss a request for a traffic guard on East Blithedale Avenue at Park School, which has been asked by Mill Valley School District trustees. It will also consider approval of plans and calling for bids on Stage One of Sycamore Avenue extension.

New Experiences— Her Basis For Art

ANN O'HANLON does her paintings in the abstract expressionism technique, not professionally but only to demonstrate certain visual elements to herself. This picture was the result of experiences on the coast with a Mendocino County perception workshop. It is the abstraction of the forms and shapes of things on the beaches, painted in rust, gray, blue, white, green and sand colors. The four-foot bronze is "Timberline 3," by her husband, Richard O'Hanlon, which illustrates his interest in design in nature.

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

A new idea of what art and art appreciation really are may be the result for many members and guests of the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley Thursday when the distinguished Mill Valley artist Ann O'Hanlon presents a program on "Art Appreciation —Avant-Garde."

Art must be an active, not a passive experience, she emphasizes.

"We have put the cart before the horse in teaching people what to see rather than how to see," she says. "Our seeing is too often conditioned by what we think we are supposed to see, and we make no new discoveries on an individual basis.

"Art appreciation should not be learning what is good about a thing but a broadening of experience.

"There is so much that the individual brings to art today," she continued. "In our space age the whole concepts of up and down have been transposed into multi-dimensional concepts of space. Therefore you can't look at a work of art from a single point of view because there are too many dimensions. Actually you don't look at it—you must be involved within it.

"The ability to do this cannot be taught or learned by rote in classes," she pointed out "What I foster is the creative response. Inspire a person to want to do something, then let him find his own way to do it.

"ART CANNOT BE TAUGHT," she declared. "That's why I quit

THIS IS A HUGE action painting in a riot of colors. It was done by nine members of Mill Valley artist Ann O'Hanlon's perception worshops. Working together on the floor they applied acrylic paints with big brushes to brown paper. "It was unplanned and unstructured," the artist said. "Yet it came out in rhythmic order felt by the people as they did it. It was like a dance that became manifest. If a dancer could have a projection of his dance depicted spontaneously as performed, it would look like this."

Registration Opens Today For Spring Series At Marin YWCA

An interesting choice of activities starting the week of March 28 is announced by the Marin YWCA. Registration opens today and must be in advance at the YWCA of the first meeting of each group. Those wishing to participate may register in person at 216 Greenfield Ave., San Anselmo.

Categories of adult activities include creative arts, home arts, leisure time skills, self improvement and sports. Pre-schooler groups include creative arts, dance and art and swimming.

The first special event of the spring series is the Marin YWCA's 10th anniversary birthday party when Mrs. Ann Lett, a cooking authority from Cordon Bleu, will demonstrate a Cantonese luncheon on Thursday at 10:30 a.m.

Sports groups include: BOWLING — Through Country Club Bowl, YWCA members are invited to five free lessons starting on April 1 at 10-noon. Ask for Mike Curry. Those wishing to continue to bowl will be organized into teams which bowl three lines.

GOLF — Instruction in grip, woods and irons. Development of swing. Intermediate groups limited to those who have had lessons or played.

Choice of: Peacock Gap. Beginners: Tuesday, 9:30 a.m.; Thursday, 9:30 a.m. Intermediates: Tuesday, 10:30 a.m.; Thursday, 10:30 a.m. Instructor, Dave Ronshausen. Las Galinas. Beginners: Tuesday, 10 a.m.; Tuesday, 7 p.m. Thursday, 10 a.m. Intermediates: Tuesday, 11 a.m.; Thursday, 11 a.m.; Thursday, 7 p.m. Instructor, Joe Colfer.

ICE SKATING — (Beginners) — This introductory course exclusively for YWCA members will include basic instruction and skating exercises. Only those enrolled in the class will be on the ice. Meet: Raydine Ice Skating School, 70 Greenfield Ave., San Anselmo, Thursdays: 11:30 a.m.-11:45 a.m. — put on skates; 11:45 a.m.-12:30 p.m. — instruction; 12:30 p.m.-1 p.m. — practice.

Instructor: Tony Howard. More advanced students wishing to skate should contact Mr. Howard directly at the school.

TENNIS — Beginners. Instruction in grip, forehand, backhand, footwork, service, rules, scoring. Choice of Wednesday 1-1:30 p.m., 1:30-2 p.m. or Friday 1-1:30 p.m. Intermediates. HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Listen To Driving Schedule For Mother Of Three Girls

I hope you have space to print a little squib I read in our local paper, and comment: It goes:

"If you are a parent and figure you have to do more than your share of driving, listen to this Saturday schedule for a San Antonio mother of three daughters:

"8:15 a.m.: Take first daughter to studio for modeling lesson.

8:45 a.m.: Take second daughter to same studio for modeling lesson and pick up first daughter.

9 a.m.: Take first daughter to another studio for baton twirling lesson.

9:15 a.m.: Pick up second daughter after modeling lesson.

9:30 a.m.: Go get first daughter who has been at baton twirling lesson.

10:30 a.m.: Take third daughter, plus first and second daughter all the way across town for dancing lessons, which run into the lunch hour.

2:30 p.m.: Take second daughter to studio for voice lesson.

2:45 p.m.: Take third daughter to teacher for piano lesson.

3 p.m.: Pick up second daughter at voice studio and drop off first daughter for violin lesson.

3:15 p.m.: With second daughter, go for third daughter at piano teacher's.

3:30 p.m.: Pick up first daughter at her violin teacher's."

"The mother says, 'This may sound pretty hectic, but there was a time when it was worse. Two of the girls used to go to synchronized swimming lessons on Saturday.'"

Now, Helen, maybe this is none of my business, but it becomes my concern when I think one of our sons might marry one of the girls! Too many activities, no matter how good each one, is too much. Add school and church (I hope)—and when do they ever have time just to be children—or simply do nothing. That's important too!—OLD FASHIONED

DEAR O. F.:

After typing that itinerary, I'm too tired to comment. Yours will do!—H.

DEAR MRS. BOTTEL:

I was incensed at your saying children would have more fun in play clothes at birthday parties, and saying you like stretch pants. I worked in the public for years. Women get sickening in their dress: shorts, tight pants—no wonder there are so many attacks and insults. They ask for it!

I for one would be very disappointed if I gave my child a party and the children came dressed for play: they should come as little ladies and gentlemen and act accordingly.

Women don't know how to act like ladies because they dress like men. . .and then they complain because men are dressing like women (with hair and high heels.) Well, somebody has to! A man doesn't want to come home at night and have another man meet him at the door.

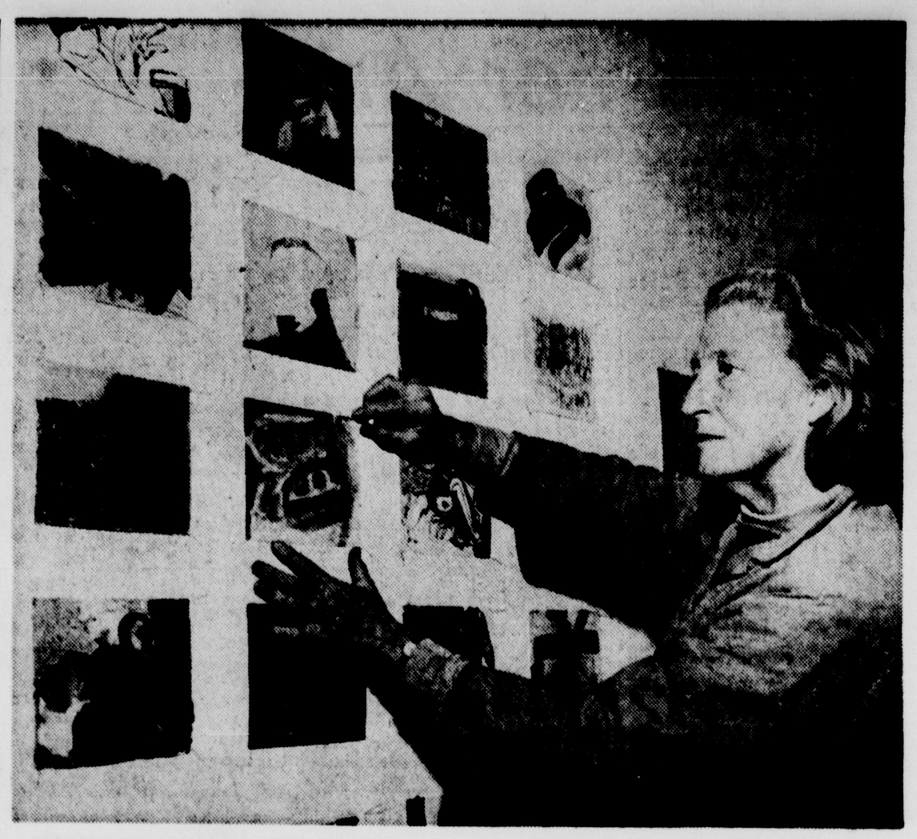

I demand that you retract those statements and get some high ideals. I'll try never to read your column again. It gets my blood pressure up. — A READER

DEAR MRS. READER:

If you read this, you aren't trying hard enough!

Sorry, no retractions. Bottel birthday invitations read, "Wear swim suits, bring towel," and that's the way it's gonna stay! As for stretch pants, I'll concede this much: If you look like a man in them, they're not for you!—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

MEMBERS OF Ann O'Hanlon's perception workshops also work in small forms as well as huge ones. She calls these "visual haikus" because they are like the little Japanese haiku poems. The unplanned visual statements are done in a variety of media. Content may be suggested by colors, a group of lines, instantaneous reaction to a slide flashed briefly on a screen or by the imagination.

Conducts Perception Workshops

Dominican College. Teaching art appreciation was just too static."

The artist explained that in 1962 she resigned from the personally rewarding position she had held for 20 years as head of the art department at Dominican College in San Rafael in order to do more independent work involving an original approach.

This approach begins with perception rather than techniques and deals with experiences an individual has in the fields of sight, hearing and movement as they are examined through visual projects. Movement, music and art are all involved.

Mrs. O'Hanlon's first formal presentation of her ideas was in a seminar held three years ago at the University of California Extension Center in San Francisco. It is still being held from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Saturdays at the Center.

THE SEMINAR BECAME SO popular that last fall she was allowed to hold workshops also at her studio in Mill Valley, where she and her husband, the noted sculptor Richard O'Hanlon, have their home and separate studios on four acres on one of the most beautiful sections of Mill Valley near the entrance to Cascade Canyon.

These workshops are held on Thursdays and Fridays from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m..

To Ann O'Hanlon these seminars are definitely not art workshops but perception workshops, for they deal with many kinds of experiences.

Of the reason why they are so popular she says, "There's a tremendous urge in people now to find their way to individual and personal meanings. They are tired of dictated evaluations in every aspect of life."

SHE HELPS STUDENTS find these meanings through discussions and doing many kinds of things both as individuals and as groups, but first they must learn to abstract their thinking and see essentials. This is to be expected because she works in the field of abstract expressionism.

One of the devices she has discovered for helping students to see things differently is having them go back to nature to observe its many forms, scales, textures and dimensions. Sometimes field trips are taken to study design in nature.

IN HER SPACIOUS STUDIO as many as 30 workshop members work as individuals or groups in many different media. These may be collages, acrilic paints (a new synthetic type), ink drawing, pastels, oils, batik, sculpture made of found objects and printing techniques like colotypes and monotypes.

Her ability to guide students in so many varieties of artistic expression is probably due to the many ways in which Ann O'Hanlon has experienced art in her life.

"Through some quirk of fate," she says, "I did not specialize in painting, but was exposed to printing, weaving, sculpture and music. All areas of art are invaluable to developing a point of view which makes perception possible."

In addition to finding inspiration for their work in observing objects of nature, students may explore their own subconscious minds. For achieving success to the subconscious such techniques may be used as automatic writing or scribbling, using unfamiliar tools or even using the left hand if one is right-handed and vice versa — anything to break up habit and make a new approach possible.

"AFTR ALL," she explained, "the criteria are not whether results are pretty but whether they are meaningful."

Music — using records, the piano or striking gongs—plays an important role in helping students in the movement aspects of what they are doing and in helping to free them to something in a new way. It has nothing to do with establishing an emotional mood, she says.

What are the results of this kind of work?

"Individuals who have experienced this approach discover that their tolerance has broadened considerably," she said, "and things that they had not been able to see before because they didn't know how, suddenly become meaningful because they have learned to experience them by actually doing them.

"IT HAPPENS in every workshop," she stressed. "It's a miracle, and like a shot in the arm to me every time I see it."

The artist is also a skilled amateur photographer. She has more than 20,000 colored slides which she and her husband took on their many trips in various parts of the world. She uses these in her lectures.

Ann O'Hanlon holds a master of arts degree in art from the University of Kentucky and did post graduate work at the California School of Fine Arts in San Francisco. In addition to heading the Dominican College art department for 20 years she has been an art instructor in the adult education program at the College of Marin.

SHE PAINTS NOW, not professionally but only to demonstrate to herself certain elements in the visual world, such as line, color, texture and energy.

Such has been the demand for her workshops that this summer starting on June 20 she will have at her studio a concentrated three-week workshop of full-day sessions sponsored by the University of California Extension Center. She will be joined by ceramicist Hal Rieger and painter Gloria Churchman.

This summer the Extension Center will also sponsor two separate weekend workshops in Mendocino County, one on the sea or ocean. Also involved will be painter Dorr Bothwell, a specialist in design in nature, and John Olmsted, a naturalist with the arboretum in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco.

Art Center For Children Opens In Mill Valley

Afternoon classes in drama and arts and crafts will be offered for children in kindergarten through third grade. Drama classes, which will be held on Mondays from 2:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m., will involve the children in acting out stories of their own making and telling as well as old favorites.

Dance and movement will be incorporated into the program, together with singing and action songs. Mrs. Margaret Kelly and Mrs. Irene Pritzker will be the teacher of the drama classes.

Arts and crafts classes, which will be held on Thursdays from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m., will include printing, painting, collage and sculpture with emphasis on three dimensional work. Children will have the opportunity to design and construct large objects using a variety of materials including wood, clay, wire and plaster. Mrs. Jean Raible will be the art instructor.

Emphasis in classes is on interesting and involving each individual child. Special field trips are arranged so children may see suitable plays and exhibitions available in the Bay Area.

Classes begin today and continue for 12 weeks.

Further information may be obtained by calling or writing the school at 40 Shell Road, Mill Valley.

Library Program Planned Thursday

Friends of the Library have scheduled a program by Katherine Pixley Robson at 10 a.m. on Thursday at the Larkspur Library. Mrs. Robson will speak on "Names on Our Land."

Mrs. Raymond Reilly, program chairman, has also arranged for a display of early photographs of the Larkspur-Corte Madera area to be held.

Trip To Gardens

Jaqueline Ingweisen Bride Of George Edgar Anderson

Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito was the setting on March 12 for the wedding of Jaqueline Ingweisen of Sausalito and George Anderson of Eureka.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ingweisen of Sacramento.

Preceding the bride to the altar in a gown of cranberry chiffon was Margarita Carter of Kentfield as maid of honor.

Emmery Mitchell of Eureka was best man and Herbert Ray of San Francisco ushered guests to their seats.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Alta Mira Hotel.

The bride was graduated from Turlock High School and the University of California.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. G. E. Anderson of Bellevue, Wash., was graduated from the University of Oregon and Harvard Business School. He is vice persident of the Twin Harbor Lumber Co. in Eureka. Mrs. Donald Tanner of Bellevue is his sister.

Following a wedding trip to Palm Springs, the couple will live in Eureka.

String Group To Complete Music Series

The LaSalle String Quartet will present the fifth concert of the season in the Peacock Gap Music Assn.'s series on Saturday at 4 p.m. in the Peacock Gap Country Club, San Rafael.

Formed in 1946 at the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, the quartet is composed of Walter Levin and Henry Meyer, first and second violinists; Peter Kamnitzer, viola, and Jack Kirstein, cello.

Members of the quartet were responsible for the establishment of a degree in string quartet playing at the Juilliard School of Music and were its first recipients in 1949.

Upon graduation the LaSalle became quartet-in-residence at Colorado College in Colorado Springs and, in 1953, was appointed quartet-in-residence at the College Conservatory of Music, University of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Every year the quartet tours throughout the United States and since 1953 has made many European and several around-the-world tours.

Works to be performed in this final concert of the series, which has been directed by Sandor Salgo, will be Quartet in D Major, Op. 64, No. 5, "The Lark" by Haydn; Quartet No. 3 (1927) by Bartok, and Quartet in D Minor by Hugo Wolf.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning the Country Club or Mrs. Wallace Dill.

Minister To Tell Of Congo's Woes

A Methodist minister recently returned from the Congo will address a meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Novato Community Methodist Church at 1473 South Novato Boulevard, according to Rev. Leo W. Hamilton, pastor.

Rev. Lawrence H. Robinson, the speaker, said he is convinced that the Congo desperately needs trained, responsible leadership. Independence has not been the complete answer to the Congo's needs, but only reveals more needs, he said.

He has been director of a school in Elizabethville, and prior to that, a teacher at a high school at Katubue in Central Congo.

Glee Club Due At Seminary

The 33-voice Bison Glee Club of Oklahoma Baptist University will present a free public performance at 9:50 a.m. tomorrow at Golden Gate Seminary, Strawberry.

Highlighting the program will be the Little Sisters, a girls' group accompanying the glee club; the Fallen Angels, a male quartet, and the Tuneclippers, a 14-voice mixed group.

Dr. Warren M. Angell will direct the glee club, which is currently on a tour of the western states.

Committee To Meet

The finance committee of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District will meet at 10 a.m. Friday at the toll plaza.

CONCERT REVIEW

Modern Work, Piano Classic Memorable

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Sandor Salgo and the Marin Symphony Orchestra offered music lovers something startlingly new last night in the second program of its 14th season at the College of Marin gymnasium.

The first large-scale work in the 12-tone idiom to be performed in Marin, the Symphony No. 3 of English composer Humphrey Searle was heard in its American premiere.

But for most of the audience the high point was pianist Istvan Nadas's virile performance in perfect rapport with the orchestra of Brahms' Concerto for Piano, No. 1, Op. in D Minor. This was indicated by the tumultuous standing ovation at its conclusion as the finale of the program.

It was evident from the first monumental movement that this was going to be a complete musical experience, deeply satisfying both emotionally and intellectually. For this kind of superlative results it would be hard to surpass the combination of the towering talents of Nadas and musical insight and conducting gifts of Salgo.

The low strings gave an exceptionally rich texture in the first two movements to the musical fabric supporting the great piano solo passages. We've never heard them played better.

In the Searle symphony, the ominous blaring of the brasses and growling of percussion—with some of the most interesting effects we have heard on tympani—called to mind in the first movement the sound and fury of ancient battles. Exciting rhythms in the second movement recreated the mood of saltarello or Italian festival, and the whole orchestral texture of the third movement was an impressionistic realization of gliding of a boat across the waters at night.

Salgo did a masterly job of leading the orchestra through the mazes of this difficult work, so much so that one suspected the applause of the large audience at the end was more in appreciation of this than in approval of the composition.

No greater contrast in the use of violins could be heard than in the Searle symphony, in which they whined and screeched, and the opening Haydn Symphony No. 99 in E Flat in which they sang and danced.

The woodwinds had their run in the spotlight in this work, which was mostly for strings and woodwinds, since brass was represented by two trumpets only. There was some particularly lovely dialogues between strings and flutes and oboes in the second movement.

All in all, it was a memorable concert.

College Shows Artists' Works

An exhibit of 24 acrylic paintings termed visual equivalents of haiku poems, by Daniel Shapiro of San Francisco, and 13 recipes calligraphed by Alan Blackman, also of San Francisco, will continue at the San Marco Art Gallery of Dominican College, San Rafael, to April 1.

Shapiro, associate professor of art at University of California at Davis, did the paintings in 1963 in New Hampshire.

Blackman's calligraphy is called "A Baker's Dozen — 13 Recipes from the Alice B. Toklas Cookbook."

Redwood Tour Booklet Issued

Things to do and see under the redwoods of north coastal California are listed in a free 40-page booklet issued this week by the Redwood Empire Assn.

Included are maps of walking tours in San Francisco, motor trips to the forests of Humboldt and Del Norte counties, and the route of the Skunk railroad between Willits and Fort Bragg.

Nearly 200 points-of-interest are noted, also scores of resorts and restaurants which cater to travelers.

Planner To Speak

The six Fairfax Citizens Planning Committees working on the city's general plan will hold a progress meeting at 8 p.m. March 29 at the Fairfax Women's Club, and will hear a short speech by County Planning Director Paul Zucker.

Astronomy Speaker

Thomas Gates of the Morrison Planetarium, San Francisco, will be speaker before the State Observers of Marin, Friday at 8 p.m. at 170 Hillside Avenue, San Rafael.

Medicare Forms At Post Offices

Medicare supplemental medical benefit applications are available at all post offices in Marin, San Rafael Postmaster Warren H. Williams announced today.

The supplemental benefits, which cost $3 a month, provide for payment of most medical costs not covered by the hospital benefits. The hospital benefits will be given automatically to all persons over 65.

Persons over 65 wishing the supplemental benefits must sign up by March 31, or they may face a two year delay in receiving the federally assisted aid.

Federal Funds Due For College Work

The Labor Department Saturday approved a federal grant of $18,814 for the 1966 summer work-study counselling program of the College of Marin.

The program will be used to select 45 high school graduates who would not ordinarily be expected to go to college, and with a combination of work, special remedial study and counseling, attempt to prepare them to enter the college in the fall.

ORGAN CONCERT

First Recital Given With New Instrument

By ELEANOR WEIL

A near-capacity audience in San Anselmo's Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon heard Wilbur Russell play his first recital on the new three-manual Buck memorial organ.

The meaty, ambitious program was well planned and well played.

First were the 17th and 18th Century composers, beginning with Bruhn's E. Minor prelude and fugue, which closely resembled work of Buxtehude, his teacher. Second was a set of variations on "Whatever God Ordains is Good" by Pachelbel, withthe chorale played first and last. Clever use was made of reed and high pitched mixture pipes in these. Especially interesting was the chromatic variation.

The big Bach was third, the Prelude and Fugue in D Major. In the majestic fugue, Russell was equally nimble in D Major, F Major and B Flat Major with both hands and feet in the running figure of do-re-mi-do and its repetitions.

Beethoven followed with "Scherzo and Allegro." The scherzo used charmingly the wooden flue pipes (alone, we think). This is a fine show piece for the instrument.

The remainder of the program included 19th Century Mendelssohn and Dupre, and two contemporaries, Helmut. Walcha and Roger Sessions.

The Mendelssohn Sonata No. 6 was a rare and beautiful thing. Most recitalists don't play it.

This series of pieces uses the organ to the full. The announcing chorale in the reeds proceeded from medium loud to soft. More reeds then full organ followed—then fugue and delicious finale which was soft and subtle with tasteful use of tremulant and swell throughout.

Fairfax Seeking Police Recruit

The City of Fairfax has launched a search for a man to fill a vacancy on the police force.

City Administrator David Sumbardo said the job carries a starting salary of $505 monthly, with a scale running to $613. Applicants must have a high school diploma or equivalent, and must be from 21 to 35 years old. Deadline to apply will be April 1, he said.

Bonsai Club Slates San Anselmo Meeting

The Marin Bonsai Club will meet at 7:45 p.m. March 29 at the American Legion Log Cabin in San Anselmo.

Davina Kosh of San Rafael will show how soil is sifted into granuled size to insure proper drainage. Kenneth Stewart of Novato will demonstrate the art of pinching and trimming conifers to contain growth of trees.

Slated For School

Airman Richard M. Standley of 7 Boulevard Court, Novato, a graduate of Novato High School, has been selected for training at Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., as an aircraft maintenance specialist.

Sonoma State Offers Teacher Fellowships

Teacher applicants from neighboring counties, including Marin, will be given preference for a fellowship program to be established at Sonoma State College this year.

The program at the college will be for teachers of grades one through eight and will emphasize elementary reading. A total of 12 teachers will be selected and will attend full-time during the 1966-67 academic year and the 1967 summer session.

Probation Financing On Supervisor Agenda

State aid for the probation department, a plea for lower county costs under the state medical care act, a proposed referendum strengthening state control of obscenity and that perennial topic, Marincello, will all be before Marin supervisors tomorrow.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center.

The Marincello discussion, a hearing on development plans for a road to the planned community, is slated for 1:30 p.m.

County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended to supervisors that they agree to participate in a state probation support program next fiscal year.

This is a plan based on the county's commitment record of felons to state institutions. The state will give $4,000 for each convicted person retained on county probation under the past commitment rate.

The theory is that the state will save more through reduction of population in its institutions.

Supervisors will also be asked to file a protest on the estimated cost of Marin tax money in administering the new state medical care program.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss has asked fellow supervisors to endorse a proposed referendum for the November ballot to increase curbs on obscenity.

He will be in Chicago Tuesday, speaking before the savings division of the American Bankers Assn.

Muir Woods Group Favors Larger Lots

Members of the Muir Woods Park Improvement Assn. Friday night went on record in favor of rezoning land near the entrance to Muir Woods National Monument to force use of larger residential lots, but opposed any increase in commercial zoning, or shifting of such zoning.

The association members set a special meeting April 1 to consider zoning of Muir Woods Park itself.

Tiburon Master Plan Report Due

First presentation of a master sketch plan for the Tiburon Peninsula will be made to the Tiburon Planning Commission at 8 p.m. today in the multipurpose room of Del Mar School.

The plan, prepared by planning consultants Williams, Cook and Mocine, is expected to reflect recommendations made in a lengthy report in June by the Tiburon Citizens Advisory Committee on Planning.

Tiburon residents were polled in preparation of the committee's report. Results showed majorities in favor of keeping the Tiburon waterfront open from Elephant Rock to the Belvedere city limit, and of cluster housing only for single-family residences; opposed to introduction of high-rise buildings, excessive development of tourism, or use of the top of the peninsula as an anchor for a bridge or rapid transit tube.

Campaign Questions Planned In Tiburon

A 14-member committee in Tiburon is out to prevent the April 12 city council election from being "merely a popularity contest."

The committee has issued a statement listing six guidelines for the council and six questions it describes as "the most important issues" in the campaign.

"I'm not sure why the candidates have not been discussing these matters," said committee member Milton L. Stannard Jr. of 3 Greenwood Court. "The candidates have certainly been aware of these questions, but they haven't been bringing them into the open.

"If the people aren't made aware of the issues, we're afraid that the election will merely be a popularity contest."

Guidelines recommended by the committee for the new city council to follow "in effectuating responsible city government" are:

1. That the primary function of the city council be "formulation of basic policy."

2. That the findings and recommendations of the Tiburon Citizens Advisory Committee be implemented.

3. That a clear definition be made of the authority of the planning commission and of the need for the city council to review the commission's actions.

4. That meetings be conducted under establishes rules of procedure with "reasonable time schedules and a minimum amount of trivia."

5. That respectful use of the administrative skills of the administrative staff is essential.

6. That reasonable demands be made for efficient, productive results from the administrative staff.

The committee, which describes itself as nonpartisan, called the following the "most important issues" which should be discussed in the campaign:

1. Waterfront: The preservation and promotion of acceptable use of waterfront lands.

2. Annexation: Its desirability, benefits and means of accomplishment.

3. Taxation: The necessary tax level for preservation of residential living with "desired community services."

4. Tourism: Desirable kinds and the necessity for control.

5. Railroad properties: Position toward abandonment, ideas of development and need for planning.

6. Parks and recreation: Needs, costs and methods of financing.

Airport Booster Suggests Action

Benjamin R. Ostlind, chairman of the Marin County Aviation Commission, has asked authority from the board of supervisors for the commission to seek approval from the Air Force for a parallel civilian runway at Hamilton Air Force Base.

Ostlind said the commission, in recommending improvement of the county airport at Novato on federal aviation standards, agreed that the Hamilton proposal was the logical development if Marin is to have an all-weather airport.

Car-Truck-Tree Crash Hurts Drowsy Driver

Charles J. Kovats, 19, of Point Reyes Station, was slightly injured about 1 a.m. Saturday when his westbound car rammed a parked pick-up truck on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Laurel Avenue, Kentfield, shoving the truck into a 30-foot tree and toppling it.

The truck was owned by Gonzalo P. Mendolla and was parked in front of his home at 1044 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Kovats, who refused hospitalization, said he must have dozed at the wheel, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Pet Hospital Burglar Gets Morphine Bottle

A 20-cubic-centimeter bottle of morphine was stolen from the Madera Pet Hospital, 5800 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera, just before 6 a.m. Saturday, Corte Madera police reported.

The burglar broke a window at the side of the building but took only the narcotic. A man who lives in the building heard someone leaving by the front door, and police set up roadblocks around the area, but were unable to find the thief.

Pole Knocked Down By Sleepy Motorist

Lee Blodget, 46, of 26 Gregory Drive, Fairfax, fell asleep at the wheel of his auto while westbound on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near the Jolly Market at 1:54 a.m. Saturday, he told Fairfax police.

He said he awoke just before his car hit an anchor pole on the wrong side of the street, snapping the pole and then turning over. Blodget was treated for cuts on his face at Marin General Hospital.

SAN RAFAEL CITY HALL LANDSCAPE PLANNED

Sketch by landscape architect Henry Cole of San Rafael shows how the new city hall will look when landscaping is completed by the end of the summer. Shrubs will be placed in planter boxes in terraces and a lawn will run from the terrace to the sidewalk. Existing trees will remain. East of the building, not shown, will eventually be a firehouse. For the present small bushes will be installed to screen the parking area. Vines will be planted to climb the concrete wall below Mission Avenue behind the building, with trees placed atop the wall. The total landscaping project, which has received City Council approval, is estimated at $25,000. Work is scheduled to start July 1, although it is uncertain whether city forces will be used.

Landowner Protests Airport Neighborhood Zone Change

It was one on several items continued today as the commission convened with only four members. Commissioners Hugh Dougherty and Harry H. Heifetz were absent. The vacancy left by Felix M. Warburg's resignation has not yet been filled.

Mrs. Evelyn Allison said the change of zoning from agricultural to resort and commercial recreation on the 500 acres east of the airport would force an increase in assessment.

Mrs. Allison also declared that she had never been consulted about the proposed change. Recreational use for the property is shown in the Novato area master plan prepared by the county, and the zone change to fit the master plan was proposed by the county planning commission.

"A change of zone should be the prerogative of the owner," Mrs. Allison argued.

The commission fears that residences may be built on the land, permitted under the present zone.

Mrs. Allison said the property might best be changed to industrial use, as was other land surrounding the airport. But, she said this is not the time to make any change.

Planning director Paul C. Zucker warned the commission it "would be on very dangerous ground" by relating zoning to assessments. He said the assessor considers potential use with the assumption that zoning can always be changed.

A Zucker's recommendation, the matter was continued to May 2. However the zoning can be discussed on April 18 when the Novato area master plan comes up for hearing before the commission.

Consideration of school sites in the Marincello master plan was put off until April 4. Amendment proposed in the commercial Lucas Green development at the southwest corner of Lucas Valley Road and Hikhway 101 was put off indefinitely.

Propsosed change from planned industrial to heavy industrial zoning on 27 acres near the approach to the Richmond-San Rafael bridge was continued until April 4.

Fairfax Council List

The Fairfax City council, meeting tomorrow night, will discuss undergrounding utilities, personnel rules and regulations, a group health insurance plan and expansion of Mount Tamalpais State Park.

Guard Uniform Taken

San Quentin Prison correctional officer Arthur Snell, of 13 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, told San Rafael police at 2:06 p.m. Saturday that his uniform had been stolen from his car while it was parked in front of 931 Fourth Street, in San Rafael.

Clothesline Raided

A peignoir and two nightgowns, worth a total of $28, were stolen from the clothesline of Bonnie A. Homrighouse, at 1 Hammondale Court, Apt. B, San Rafael, she reported to police yesterday.

College Official Fears Fill Ban To Hurt Plans

President Stephen E. Epler of College of Marin today said that if the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission's ban on filling 25 acres of college-owned marshland in Kentfield is allowed to stand, it will make full development of the Kentfield campus impossible.

Dr. Epler, expressing hopes the commission will reverse its decision, said:

"If it remained permanent, it would certainly make impossible the development of the college. We are very much concerned."

The college president said the decision will not affect present construction at the college, which includes a new fine arts building, but it throws a pall over future construction projects. He said he is unsure when the college can now proceed with plans to construct a $2,380,000 science building at Kentfield.

Dr. Epler said he does not know if the college will immediately apply for permission to fill the marshland, which the commission said must remain strictly for wild birds if the Corte Madera Creek flood control project is to proceed. He said he must consult first with County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney.

The college had planned to use the marshland for new buildings which would expand its enrollment from 4,000 to 12,000 students in the next few years.

Young Driver Claims Car Forced Off Road

James R. Steinhoff, 18, of 3 Aster Court, Mill Valley, escaped serious injury Saturday night when his eastbound auto was forced off Paradise Drive in Corte Madera by a car containing three youths, Corte Madera police reported.

Steinhoff, who was wearing a seatbelt, told police his auto rolled over completely once, then struck a utility pole. He was treated at Marin General Hospital for multiple bruises.

Steinhoff and a witness told police he was being chased by three youths in a black, 1957 Chevrolet. He said he was "scared and wanted to get away" so when the other auto pulled alongside, he swerved on to the shoulder of the road. Police have not been able to trace the other auto.

Agnes Brown, 18, of 533 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, was examined at the same hospital for a back injury Saturday afternoon after the driving lesson she was giving her mother, Stella A. Brown, 51, of the same address, ended with their auto stacked head-on against a flag pole in the Redwood High School parking lot, Corte Madera police said. She said her mother lost control of the auto.

Merton McDonald, 46, of San Francisco was treated at the hospital for a scraped forehead last night after his southbound auto struck a parked car in front of 294 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, police in that city reported.

Two Teen-Age Girls, Man Are Missing From Novato

Two 15-year-old girls and a 55-year-old man were missing from their homes in Novato today, according to Novato police.

Diane Frances Dingman was missing from her foster home at 74 Washington Street, reported Mrs. Dorothy Lynn Athias, 26. Diane, a ward of the court, left a note and ran away yesterday morning, Mrs. Athias told police. She was described as five feet one inch tall, weighing 105 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes. When last seen, she was wearing a black and white checked shirt, black blouse, white corduroy car coat, and white tennis shoes.

She is five feet three inches tall, weighing 110 pounds with brown hair and blue eyes. She was wearing a black sweater, blue Bermuda shorts, and black tennis shoes.

Clyde Miller Campbell left his home at 10:30 a.m. Saturday and had not yet returned today, according to his wife, Evelyn Ruth Campbell. He is five feet 11 inches tall, weighs 130 pounds and has brown hair and eyes. He was wearing a blue shirt, dark trousers and a green jacket when he left.

Handyman Stricken At Valhalla Inn

Manuel Quintal, about 48, was in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital after he reportedly suffered a heart attack at 1:33 p.m. yesterday at the Valhalla Inn, 201 Bridgeway, Sausalito, where he works as handyman.

Quintal, who lives in Sausalito, was given some glycerine pills by restaurant owner Mrs. Marsha Owen (Sally Stanford), then given resuscitation by firemen, who took him to the hospital by city ambulance.

Hospital Names Marin Doctors

A Greenbrae doctor has been appointed chief of ophthalmology at Franklin Hospital, and three other Marinites were reappointed chief of their departments in the hospital in San Francisco.

Dr. J. Fraser Muirhead of 125 Corte Balboa, Greenbrae, will take over the opthalmology post.

Crash Injures Fairfax Couple

Robert Johnson of 22 Madrone Court, who, said police, apparently fell asleep at the wheel, hit the windshield and was admitted to Marin General Hospital with severe face cuts. He was listed as in fair condition today.

His wife, Peggy Johnson, 39, suffered chest and back injuries and was said today to be in good condition.

Automatic Pistol Stolen From House

Dennison, who lives at 18 Morningsun Drive, reported he had left his tool box in the home he is remodeling on Cascade and the $50 pistol was taken between Wednesday and Friday.

Inmate Attacks Guard

A San Quentin Prison correctional officer suffered serious injuries yesterday in an attack by an inmate in the prison kitchens.

The guard, Robert E. Ledbetter, 44, of Petaluma was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base hospital for a broken collar bone, bruised ribs, and a head injury following the 9 a.m. assault. His condition was good today.

According to Associate Warden James W. L. Park, Ledbetter was checking on an inmate who should not have been in the kitchens. He ordered him away and the two were walking out when the assault took place.

Ledbetter was knocked down and kicked while he lay on the ground, said Park.

Prison authorities today were questioning a suspect, Roy Lee Gatson, 24, of Alameda County, serving a one year-to-life sentence for sodomy.

Sniper's Pellets Hit Bus Window

Two windows of a Greyhound bus, directly behind where a passenger sat, were cracked by air rifle shots as the bus, eastbound on Tiburon Boulevard, passed the Hilarita Housing Project Friday night.

Driver Virgino G. Barbagelata reported to the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station he heard two shots in rapid succession as he drove past the housing project at 10:40 p.m.

He found pellets had hit two windows just behind where the only passenger aboard the bus was seated. They did not penetrate the windows, however.

Two Boats Aided By Coast Guard

It was the Coast Guard to the rescue yesterday when mechanical trouble hit two Marin County mariners.

The engine of a 40-foot fishing vessel, Corinne II, operated by Antone P. Caruso, 624 Glenwood Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, broke down two miles south of Rocky Point and the boat was towed to Sausalito.

A 28-foot cabin cruiser, Red Witch, owned by Frank Yorkis, 611 Ridge Road, Tiburon, lost her rudder in the ocean and was also towed to Sausalito.

Car Clouter's Loot Includes Guinea Pig

A live guinea pig was taken from the parked car of Arnold B. Hagen of the Marin Town and Country Club, Fairfax, parked at Fourth and A strees, San Rafael, Saturday night.

Also stolen were a sleeping bag, three jackets, a portable radio, an overnight case and a special draftmen's straight edge Hagen said he had invented, he told police. He gave no estimate of the value of the loss.

Real Estate Topic

Real estate salesmen will be invited to air their problems at the Marin County Real Estate Board breakfast meeting at 8 a.m. tomorrow at Dominic's restaurant, San Rafael. John McSweeney of Cagwin and Hamilton will be chairman of the day.

Today is Monday, March 21, the 80th day of 1966 with 285 to follow.

American philanthropist John D. Rockefeller III was born on this day in 1906.

On this day in history:

In 1970, Thomas Jefferson became the first United States secretary of State.

In 1945, 7,000 Allied airplanes dropped 12,000 tons of explosives on Germany in a daylight raid.

In 1962, Soviet Premier Khrushchev pledged that Russia would cooperate with the United States in peaceful exploration of space.

A thought for the day — President Thomas Jefferson said: "The earth belongs to the living, not to the dead."

'When I Double They Are Sure To Go Down,' Says A Braggart

"When I double, they're sure to go down," a certain kind of bridge player likes to brag.

"I can take my double to the bank and float a loan on it."

Don't send to your bank for an explanation of Alvin Roth's double of three notrump.

From the uncertain bidding Roth suspected that his partner had a high spade or two behind dummy, and his own diamonds were surely well placed.

QUEEN OF SPADES

Declarer put up dummy's queen of spades at the first trick, hoping that the double and opening lead had been based on top spades.

East won with the king of spades, and South discarded a diamond since he was unwilling to give up any of his nine winners.

East naturally returned a diamond, and Roth won with the jack. To make sure of the best defense, Roth cashed the jack of spades before leading a low spade to the ace.

FORCED RETURN

This forced East to return another diamond. Roth thereupon ran the rest of the diamonds and the ten of spades for a total of nine defensive tricks.

The speculative penalty double thus brought in 900 instead of a mere 250 points, a fact that should be noted by the Senate Banking Committee.

If this kind of double appeals to you, remember it when the opponents bid a game that depends on good luck.

In this case, the rebids of two clubs and two spades were nonforcing, so that North and South had clearly worked themselves up to an ambitious game. Double such a contract when your cards tell you that declarer is going to run into bad luck.

Golf Club Sued For Golf Ball Injury

Frank A. Colondres, about 50, of San Francisco, Friday filed a $25,000 damage suit against the Indian Valley Golf Club northwest of Novato, and a Berkeley golfer for injuries Colondres says he suffered when he was struck by a golf ball.

The Marin Superior Court suit charges negligence by the club and by Harvey Sewell of Berkeley. It contends Sewell was reckless in driving a ball which struck Colondres on the head last March 21.

What Is Sweeter

than the smell of money? Well, my friend, lots of things —like the green hills in Spring, good things a-cooking in your own kitchen . . . Here's a chance to give your family these sweet things and still save plenty of long green for sniffing! A 3 year old, 3 bedroom home, on a level street 1 block from school, park, riding stable, 1 block from miles of hiking trails, yet still within walking distance of shops and transportation. Home has huge living room, elec. kitchen, w/w carpeting, a big, big deck and TWO custom quality baths. If you're guessing higher than $24,500, don't, come see!

Congress Worries Over G.I. Housing

By DONALD ZYLSTRA
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Beyond obvious concern about providing U.S. forces with effective weapons and adequate pay, few subjects have been discussed in recent years by the Defense Department with the same urgency as proper housing for military families.

It is in this light that Congress expressed its irritation at the Pentagon's plan to defer housing construction, which fell victim to budget pruning caused by the Viet Nam War.

Last year the Pentagon asked to build 12,500 housing units and was given funds — $160 million — for 8,500. Another request to build 12,500 more in the coming fiscal years was planned, but not made.

As for the 8,500, "We're going to insist you build them." Those were the words used by Rep. L. Mendel Rivers when Deputy Defense Secretary Cyrus Vance appeared before Rivers' House Armed Services Committee.

He was also speaking of hospitals and other items among $620 million for military construction which Congress had appropriated but Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara prefers not to spend.

Vance said the Defense Department still hoped to build housing, hospitals and such, but not now. He did say the Pentagon will lease more privately owned housing for service families than it originally intended.

At a cost calculated at $6.7 million, it will attempt to rent existing housing for 13,000 families, 6,000 more than announced last month when the leasing program was put forth as a temporary substitute for housing construction.

Critics of leasing point to a major drawback. Existing facilities often cannot be found near the military bases where the need is greatest.

Moreover, the problem is larger than the immediate remedies called for by Congress (building 8,500 units) or the Pentagon (leasing 13,000). The Pentagon's own calculation is that 100,000 service families live in substandard housing — 5,000 of them government-owned —and 40,000 other families are separated because of lack of adequate housing on or near military bases.

The leasing would permit each of the armed services to pay up to $160 per month, including utilities and maintenance, for these privately owned quarters.

Pentagon officials emphasize that it is their intention to confine leases almost exclusively to existing housing. Inquiries from investors and contractors about the possibility of building new rentals for government lease have met with little or no encouragement.

Pentagon housing officials emphasize the interim nature of the leasing move. Future permanent construction, the possibility of strength reductions and additional base closings all would tend to make building of new housing by private firms for lease to the Defense Department an uncertain venture.

Provision of adequate living quarters is regarded as a prime morale factor and directly related to the problem of retaining experienced noncommissioned officers and skilled enlisted men with families.

The loss of active, trained military forces is presently occurring at the rate of about 500,000 a year, as regulars leave after their enlistment period ends. McNamara has indicated he is acutely aware of this problem and, until the Viet Nam emergency expanded rapidly, viewed the problem of adequate service housing as a highly urgent one.

Now the Pentagon seems to feel that such expenditures are hard to justify in the face of an already-extended military budget in which it says every effort has been made to prune all but absolutely essential spending.

American servicemen are, in effect, being asked to wait considerably longer before they can move from second-rate housing to acceptable dwellings.

Particularly depressing to key non-commissioned officers and their families still improperly housed is the fact that most of them are not even near the top of the waiting lists for the limited housing available.

Span Collision Hurts Sausalitan

Billie Trawick, 22, of 236 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito, suffered a cut left elbow in a three-car chain collision on the Golden Gate Bridge at 3:10 p.m. Saturday, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Miss Trawick was a passenger in a car driven by Charlynne C. Young, 24, of the same address, which was the middle car in the three-car collision. She did not require hospital treatment, highway patrol officers reported.

Officers reported that a car driven by Jule DeBow, 65, of San Francisco stopped in the southbound lane. Mrs. Young's car stopped behind it. Then a car driven by Frank A. Pareto, 40, of 173 Picnic Avenue, San Rafael, struck the rear of the Young car.

Gold Ring Stolen In Strawberry Shop

Marin County sheriff's deputies reported Saturday that a gold ring with a diamnod setting, valued at $500, was stolen from the Seven Seas International Shop, 328 Town and Country Shopping Center, Strawberry.

The theft, which occurred during store hours Wednesday, was reported to the sheriff's office Friday. The ring had been kept on a display case in the store window.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Elmer was a tough Swede but he had no defense when his peptic ulcer began to bleed. I'll never forget because he collapsed on the day before Christmas. According to his wife, he suddenly became weak, nauseated, pale, and began to perspire. He vomited blood and fell to the floor.

He regained consciousness in the hospital with nurses, interns, and technicians working over him. They were taking his pulse, blood pressure, determining the extent of blood loss, and preparing him for a transfusion and possible surgery. Within three days the oozing subsided and we began to treat the ulcer.

MOST PEOPLE who enter the hospital hemorrhaging from the stomach and in shock usually survive. It is a trying experience, especially when the cause is not known. For many, internal bleeding is the initial symptom that something is amiss in the stomach, duodenum, esophagus or liver. The question is what and where and this is not easily determined by looking at or feeling the bare abdomen.

Passing tarry stools or vomiting black material means that blood is mixing with the acid in the stomach. In some instances the diagnosis can be made via X-rays or viewing the inside of the stomach with a scope. A simple method is to swallow a cotton string with one end taped to the cheek. It is pulled out the net morning and the red level gives a clue whether the bleeding point is in the esophagus, stomach, or in the first part of the intestine.

MEANWHILE the victim is watched carefully but the time may come when it becomes necessary to say "He is still bleeding, surgery is needed." Accurate diagnosis is now of major importance because surgeons do not like to make a blind date with a bleeding point somewhere in the stomach or intestines. When the source is found various procedures are done, depending upon the cause. In general, the reason for operating is to stop the hemorrhage and not to cure the ulcer.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

CALLUS DISTRESS

A reader writes: I am 15 and have a very painful callus on the ball of my foot. At times I have to dray my foot so it won't hurt. I've tried everything. Please advice.

REPLY

The callus can be pared — or, better, build up the metatarsal arch that is causing the lesion. This is done with pads, arch supports, proper shoes, and learning how to walk properly.

BODY MOLES

N. C. writes: After a hysterectomy could monthly shots bring on body moles?

REPLY

No. Most of us harbor scores of moles but they are not related to or encouraged to grow by sex hormones. They tend to crop out at birth or months, years, or decades later.

MASSAGING A SCAR

S. W. writes: Will massaging a 3-week-old scar on the forehead help it to fade?

REPLY

Massaging will make no difference because the fate of this scar is already determined at the end of three weeks.

SOFTENED BONES

I. H. writes: What is senile osteoporosis?

REPLY

Weakening of the bones in elderly persons resulting from metabolic changes. It usually is most marked in the spine and leads to backache and curvature.

Outdoor Lovers Await National Trails Plan

By MILTON JAQUES
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON — Plans for a national system of trails for hikers and bikers — "the forgotten outdoorsmen of today"— are being drafted by a group of federal recreation experts.

Their recommendations could blaze the way for 100,000 miles of forest trails for hikers and horseback riders. And up to 150,000 miles of safe cycling paths in and around cities.

Trails in scenic areas of national parks and forests are expected to dominate the report of the experts. But the new cycle paths will probably have the greatest impact on families and youth groups seeking outdoor recreation near their homes.

President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered the unusual recreation report last year in his speech on natural beauty, when he referred to people who like to walk, hike, ride horseback or bicycle as "the forgotten outdoorsmen."

Recreation planners generally agree. For most of the public, outdoor recreation revolves around a Sunday afternoon drive in the country.

The President's message said motor vehicles should not be permitted "to tyrannize the more leisurely human traffic.

Despite this admonition, the committee report may suggest trails in some areas for motor scooters and bicycles, where their use would not annoy hikers or horses.

Although thousands of miles of foot trails are now open in national and state recreation lands, many scenic areas have not been available to hikers. Other areas need provisions made for crossing rivers and roads before hikers can be accommodated.

In their sutdy, the experts have been guided by the development of the 2,000 mile Appalachian Trail from Maine to Georgia on the east coast, and the rugged Sierra Mountain trail in California.

The new system may involve areas not yet developed for walking. Historic routes such as the Natchez Trace in Mississippi and Tennessee and the Santa Fe Trail in the west offer opportunities for use as trunk trails or more than 500 miles in length.

For development, these trails would need overnight shelters built at appropriate intervals—usually the length of a day's walk—and at springs and water holes.

The value of trail hiking for family vacations and activities for youth groups will be emphasized in the report.

Cycling, although popular, is limited by a lack of safe streets and routes in cities, the planners feel. New national recreation area plans are already taking this activity into consideration in their plans.

Interested federal, state and local agencies have been consulted from time to time. Sources say now the report offering the new system of trails should be ready for publication in April.

Two Couples Die In Plane Crash

SALINAS (AP)—A newlywed couple were among four persons killed Saturday night when a light plane crashed and burned after cutting two high voltage lines.

The Monterey County coroner said A1/c Benigo Martinez, 30, of Castle Air Force Base, and his wife Beatrice, who were married two weeks ago, were passengers in the Piper Comanche piloted by Army Lt. Theodore E. Klapheck, 24 of Fort Ord.

Stricken Salesman In Fair Condition

Salesman William Phillip Simmons, 46, of 42 Junipero Serra Avenue, San Rafael, had improved to the point where he was listed in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital.

'Reformation' Series Puts Life In History

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —"The Reformation," last evening's NBC-TV documentary about the great spiritual upheavals of the 16th Century, succeeded in making a four-century-old story come alive by linking it to today's news.

Even as viewers were still aware of some recently-announced adjustments of the Catholic Church, they were able to see in the one-hour television program the earlier historic changes that altered the shape of Christianity.

The differences in the atmospheres surrounding the changes were also unquestionably obvious: the more dramatic and sometimes violent adjustments of the 16th century, as opposed to the more moderate and open-armed alterations of today.

"The Reformation" focused mainly on Martin Luther, John Calvin and Ignatius of Loyola — the last-named the founder of the Jesuit order and an example of how the Catholic Church progressed from within its own ranks.

Repeatedly the hour stressed the lesson of reform from within, and contrasted it with the frequent major headaches of having to react chiefly to demands from without.

As the producer, George Vicas, put it, the program was not about theology —"but rather about how and why men were persuaded or forced to adopt new religious beliefs, and how these beliefs shaped the new society in which they lived and were, in turn, shaped by the demands of the societies in which they lived."

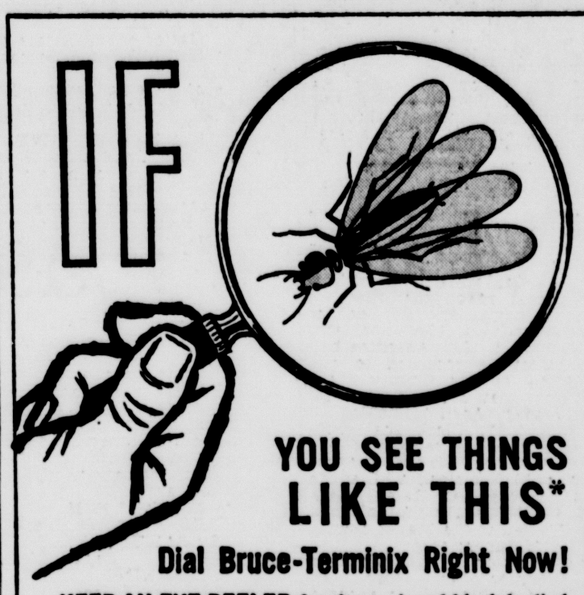

What was most fascinating in the contrast of then-and-now during the program was the constant realization that the changes of four centuries ago mainly concerned the separation of elements of the religions involved, whereas today's alterations are heading in the direction of unity.

Technically, the contrast of then-and-now was aided by using modern footage of the sites of some of the earlier historic events, and also employing art works and other proper devices to reconstruct the past.

This was the fourth and final program of NBC-TV's "Of Men and Freedom" series of specials, and, quite frankly, although the past shows had their ups and downs, it really wasn't too clear until last evening exactly what the hours were trying to do.

How much more attractive such documentaries would be if, instead of starting with the past and merely alluding to the present, they began with the hard news facts of today and concentrated on them, while alluding to the past. One needn't only be "controversial" about the same subjects. There are many hot subjects television hasn't even touched in nearly as major a way as newspapers and magazines have.

GOLLY GEE BATMAN, YOU DRIVE BADLY

BOSTON (UPI)—Batman is television's poorest driver and a "vicious example" for the nation's youth, the Automobile Legal Assn. said today.

The auto owners' group protested that in one program alone Batman was guilty of these highway safety violations:

Speeding.

Fairfax Trustees To Settle Vote

The Fairfax School District board will vote on formal resolutions calling for an election to raise the district's maximum operating tax rate at a special meeting tomorrow in Manor School at 7:45 p.m.

Trustees will consider asking Marin County Board of Supervisors and the counuty superintendent of schools to consolidate the election with the general primary elections June 7.

The decision to ask for an increase in the tax rate was taken by the board last Tuesday when it was told the budget planned for fiscal 1967 will total $556,165, or nearly $23,000 more than the current budget.

Service Club Wins Radio Cash Awards

KTIM'S community club awards derby has put more than $1,000 into the treasuries of some local service organizations. The promotion program will end May 4.

Leaders so far have been Credit Women of Marin; Women in Construction; San Rafael Kiwanis and Lions of San Rafael. This week the first prize went to the Y Wives. A grand prize will be awarded the first week of May.

Joins Publicity Unit

Maj. Paul K. Jones, deputy director of information at Hamilton Air Force Base, has been named an active member of the Public Relations Society of America.

To Be Instructor

Airman/3c Donald A. Droesch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Droesch of 8 Jefferson Avenue, San Rafael, has completed the course for Air Force technical instructors at Sheppard Air Force Base, Texas. Droesch, a graduate of Terra Linda High School, will remain at Sheppard as an instructor.

U.S., Russ Sign Cultural Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Russia will continue their cultural exchange program at about the same level as in the past under a new two-year agreement.

The agreement was signed in a brief, closed ceremony at the State Department after a puzzling U.S.-requested three-day delay. The pact continues through 1966-67 the broad range of cultural exchanges begun in 1958, including entertainers, scientists, scholars, movie and exhibits.

Planned Parenthood Driving For Funds

Directors of Planned Parenthood of Marin are in the midst of a drive to gain $20,000 in contributions to continue the organization's clinic in San Rafael and to begin a program of carrying contraceptive information to the homes of women requesting it.

Patient visit to the clinic at 603 D Street, San Rafael, were up 50 per cent last year, to 1,472 persons, said Mrs. Victor E. Sloman of San Rafael, executive director of the organization.

Donations would support a move to larger quarters and finance a program of home visits to give contraceptive information to women who cannot leave their homes because of transportation problems or because of having to take care of a number of children.

Women coming to the San Rafael clinic are given physical examinations and a prescription for the method of birth control suited to the patient, Planned Parenthood officials explained.

The patient pays from nothing to $2 to $5, depending on her ability to pay. Planned Parenthood also gives family planning information to patients who visit the public health clinic in Marin City.

A planned parenthood organization, then called Marin Maternal Health Assn., was begun 35 years ago in Marin. A clinic was established in a Mill Valley physician's office in 1955, followed by the establishment of larger clinics.

Donations also would support proposed sex education and preparation-for-marriage programs which the organization hopes to begin this year.

"We have a great many people in Marin of marriageable age—although they should have access to birth control information, they should be educated to other responsibilities and obligations of marriage as well," said Mrs. C. E. Bodington of Sleepy Hollow, president of Planned Parenthood.

The proposed new plans and continuing work of the organization will come under Barbara George of Petaluma, a nurse who will take over the post of executive director on June 1, as Mrs. Sloman and her family are moving to the East.

The total budget of the organization is $28,000 for the year, with $8,000 expected from patients fees. Letters have just been mailed in a county-wide campaign to gain contribution of the remaining $20,000.

Breakfast Is Planned

A pancake and sausage breakfast, cooked by the Tomales Druids to raise money for the Easter Seal Society of Marin, will be held 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. March 27 at the Tomales Town Hall.

Schofield Grabs Lead In Giant's Shortstop Derby

LONG BEACH (AP — Shortstop Dick Schofield, back in the starting lineup with a .333 spring training batting average, leads the San Francisco Giants against the Chicago Cubs today.

Schofield, who has moved ahead of challenger Tito Fuentes, got two of the Giants three hits and was their bright spot despite their 3-1 loss to the California Angels at Palm Springs yesterday. So far this season he's collected five hits in 15 times at bat.

Once 6-0, the Giants now are confronted by a three - game Cactus League losing streak, two of the losses at the hands of the Angels. The two teams are deadlocked for first place in the Cactus League with 6-3 records.

Lee, followed to the mound by Jorge Rubio and Ed Sukla, helped the Angels complete their revenge over the Giants, who beat them twice last week in Phoenix.

Lee hurled the first three innings, surrendering two hits, one run and striking out one. Rubio pitched the next four innings, giving up only one hit and striking out two. Sukla finished up, retiring the last six hitters in a row.

Bobby Knoop of the Angels blasted a lead-off home run in the first inning and got his team off to a fast start. He went 2-4 and raised his spring average to .478.

Manager Bill Rigney said Rubio's stuff was the best he had seen by an Angel pitcher yet this spring.

The Giants used five pitchers yesterday with starter Al Stanek taking the loss. Following him to the mound were Joe Overton, Tom Stewart, Bill Wade and Lindy McDaniel.

The Giants were saddened yesterday when they learned that Frankie "Doc" Bowman, the team's trainer from 1948 until last year, died of a heart attack at the age of 69 in St. Paul, Minn.

He had been in ill health since early last season when he was forced to leave his job as chief attendant to the San Francisco players' aches and pains. Leo Hughes has been the trainer since then.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday in St. Paul.

JUAN STANDING PAT ON $80,000 DEMAND

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—San Francisco Giants hurler Juan Marichal said last night that he is standing part on his demand for a 1966 contract of $80,000.

"But I expect that we will arrive at a satisfactory agreement soon," he told newsmen.

Marichal did not disclose just how far apart he was with the Giants, but it was believed to be about $10,000.

The Dominican hurler said he was about ten pounds overweight but that he expected to be down to his playing weight of 190 in a few weeks.

Reports circulating here said Marichal talked by telephone with Giant officials Sunday. He declined to confirm this.

BOCCABELLA OUT IN A CLOUD OF DUST

Former Marin Catholic High School star John Boccabella of San Anselmo, trying for a job with the Chicago Cubs, attempted to score from third base on wild pitch in yesterday's Chicago-Cleveland exhibition game at Long Beach, but was tagged out on the play by catcher Duke Simms. Boccabella, now in his fourth season of professional ball, knocked Simms head over heels on the play, but the Indian catcher held onto the ball.

Rigney Remembers June 18, 1960; Finds Self On The Spot Again

HANLEY

PALM SPRINGS—Bill Rigney now is dean of American League baseball managers. Yet this is just his sixth year with the Angels. Managing a major league ball club begets gray hairs, not longevity.

Rigney's hair now is solid white. It didn't get that way managing the Angels. It began to turn gray overnight in 1959. That was Rigney's next-to-last year with the Giants. He never did finish the 1960 season with them.

One sunshiny June day in Candlestick Park he was fired summarily as he stood behind the batting cage watching the Giants at work. Chub Feeney, his good friend, delivered the dismissal notice from Horace Stoneham.

Rigney has paused for a moment of reflection every June 18 since. "I've never forgotten the dismissal day," Rigney readily admits now. "Even if I did try to forget it, my Angel writers keep bringing it up every June 18."

THE PAST five seasons with the Angels have been carefree and happy for Rigney except 1962. That was the year the Angels momentarily threatened Dodger supremacy in Chavez Ravine. That was the year the Dodgers lost the National League pennant in a dismal stretch dive while the upstart Angels were finishing third in the American League.

Rigney set some sort of record for pitching changes in 1962. He used 508 pitchers in an amazing run at the American League flag. For a time it appeared that the Angels might actually beat the Yankees. Rigney had everyone in Southern California excited.

THE ANGELS played more like the infants they are in 1963, finishing ninth. In 1964 they flashed home in the No. 5 position but dropped to No. 7 last year.

This season the Angels are moving into a brand new stadium of their own at Anaheim, out of the Dodgers' shadow in Chavez Ravine. The natives of Anaheim are expecting a lot from the Angels, perhaps too much.

IT WON'T BE Rigney's easiest year although not as rough as 1959 when his hair suddenly turned white as the Giants were losing a pennant after taking a two-game lead into the stretch with eight to play.

This is the year the Angels must establish themselves with a new following of fans. They can't achieve that objective with a seventh or eighth place finish. They must in or around the first division. So once again Rigney is on the pressure spot but major league managers regard such stuff as routine.

Seals In A Rut, Tie Totes

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's Seals are stuck in a rut in their struggle to nudge Seattle's Totems out of fourth place and a playoff berth in the Western Hockey League.

The fifth-place Seals and the Totems tied yesterday, 3-3, leaving San Francisco still seven points behind Seattle.

It was the second consecutive tie played by the two teams. They knotted 4-4 in Seattle last week. The same two teams meet here again Friday night.

After a first period yesterday of no scores—but 11 penalties in all—Jim Powers tallied twice for Seattle in the second. Gerry Odrowski, Del Topoll and Wayne Connelly then put the Seals ahead 3-2, but ex-teammate Larry Lund lifted Seattle even at 5:23 of the third. It was scoreless competition thereafter and through the 10-minute overtime.

BARRY KEY MAN IN WARRIORS' FUTURE

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A rookie sharpshooter brought promise during the 1965-66 National Basketball Assn. season to the San Francisco Warriors.

In the season ended yesterday, the Warriors climbed out of the Western Division cellar, posting a 35-45 mark. That wasn't enough to get them into the playoffs but it was a considerable improvement over the previous season's 17-63 mark.

The rookie is Rick Barry from the University of Miami in Florida—one of four players in NBA history who have thrown in 2,000 or more points their first season.

All hopes were snuffed when the leading Los Angeles Lakers dropped the Warriors 124-112 while St. Louis was beating Detroit 121-117. That left the Hawks with a 36-43 record.

Warrior rebuilding started last season when the losing San Franciscans traded away Wilt Chamberlain, a great player but one who did not bring them victory.

Chamberlain went to the Philadelphia 76ers who snapped Boston's nine-year hold on the Eastern Division title. Chamberlain was voted this year's most valuable player.

End Of An Era As 76ers Dethrone Celtics In NBA

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The end of an era came in the National Basketball Assn. yesterday. The Philadelphia 76ers beat the Baltimore Bullets 108-104 and snapped the Boston Celtics' hopes for a 10th straight Eastern Division title.

The Celtics whipped the Cincinnati Royals 121-104 in their final regular season game, but it didn't mean anything with big Wilt Chamberlain leading the 76ers to their 11th straight victory.

"This is just a down payment on the big one," said Chamberlain who before the game had been named the most valuable player in the NBA. The Big Dipper, who scored 26 points and grabbed 26 rebounds, was referring to the upcoming playoffs that determine the league champion.

A remarkable spurt of 24 straight points in the third period brought the 76ers from behind a 16-point deficit into the lead at 80-72. The Bullets rallied on their home court to tie at 104-104 in the last minute before two fouls by Gerry Ward and Hal Greer and Lucious Jackson's basket wrapped it up for the 76ers.

"The 76ers won it, we didn't lose it," said Boston Coach Red Auerbach in extending congratulations. He added a warning: "I might point out that now we're playing our best ball of the season. We'll be mighty tough in the playoffs."

Philadelphia's victory overshadowed the 121-117 road victo the Detroit Pistons, a triumph that earned the Hawks the last playoff spot in the Western Division. The Los Angeles Lakers, the Western Division champs, snuffed out San Francisco's last chance by beating the Warriors at home 124-112.

Playing-coach Richie Guerin, with 37 points, led a St. Louis rally that wiped out a 109-104 Detroit lead. He scored six points in last 90 seconds. Jerry West's 35 points paced the Lakers over the Warriors who led by nine points at 36-27 at the end of the first quarter.

A Race Against Time In Antitrust Trial

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — If defense attorneys take as long to present their case in Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball as the state did, the trial may run within a week of the opening of the major league season.

There are indications baseball attorneys may take that long, and maybe longer.

Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller ordered the first Saturday session in the trial last week after hinting he may keep attorneys in court overtime for night sessions also.

But National League attorney Bowie Kuhn objected that the lengthy hours were grueling and asked Roller for a 9-to-5, Monday-through-Friday schedule. Roller told Kuhn he would try to accommodate him, but made no promises.

The suit against the league and its 10 member clubs went to trial Feb. 28. Wisconsin charges violation of its antitrust laws by baseball's approval of the shift of the Braves from Milwaukee to Atlanta, leaving this city without a major league team.

If the defense takes 14 courtroom days on a five-day weekly schedule, it would wind up its presentation April 5. The Braves are scheduled to open in Atlanta April 12.

Baseball attorneys offered about a dozen exhibits and had two depositions read into the record during the three-hour session Saturday.

State attorneys have accused baseball attorneys of trying to stall until the season is under way. Roller, who has said he wants to complete the trial by April 12, has twice refused defense requests to delay proceedings to July 1.

Roller already has instructed baseball to be prepared to keep the Braves in Milwaukee this year if such is eventually ordered by the court. He has also told the league to make plans for expansion this season.

Astroturf Looks Good, But Presents Some Problems

By MIKE RATHET

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros have unveiled their man-made infield — an unnatural baseball surface of nylon strips held together by zippers and, as an offspring of the Astrodome, naturally labeled Astroturf.

It requires no mowing, a vacuum cleaner and broom are the only necessary maintenance items. It requires little care since it's quaranteed not to shrink, fade or tear. And it requires no sunlight since it's a synthetic.

Manager Walt Alston of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers was most reticent about discussing the new wonder of the Astros' world after sweeping a weekend exhibition series with Houston 8-3 and 4-1. Asked about the man-made infield, Alston would only say:

The surface, knit together like closely-packed crepe paper, is a bright pool table green. There's no doubt it looks good. But after taking a good look at it, some of the infielders said it was difficult to handle.

THE PROBLEMS

—The surface produced an unusual, quick spin on the first hop, making the ball hard to handle on the first bounce after it hit the skin part of the infield.

—Bunts seems to hug the synthetic surface and veer toward the mound, creating another problem for the defense.

—And the surface, a three-quarter inch thick layer put down over dirt, seemed to be lumpy in spots and cause bad hops.

Of all the players, Dodger shortstop Bart Shirley was the most outspoken.

"Someone's going to break an ankle before they're through," said Shirley, who went on to explain that "one grounder I set my foot for a throw and all at once I felt the stuff give under me and my foot moved."

Jim Gentile, the Astros' first baseman, indicated the same when he pointed to what he called the "lumps," in the infield, uneven highs and lows in the carpet-like surface.

"The last time I said something it was about the mule — and I got traded," said Gentile, making reference to the Kansas City A's before pointing out that "the ball comes off that infield fast. It does make the ball do something."

UNEVEN SPOTS

"Look at these uneven spots," Gentile continued, as he pointed to the little ridges in the infield. "One grounder came off the bat like it was coming right in my glove, then probably hit there somewhere and hopped over my shoulder."

"The ball bounces pretty true," said Dodger third baseman Jim Lefebvre, "but I found the big trouble was the ball picks up spin on the grass part and when it hits the dirt, really kicks off that — quick. So it's not the grass but the hop off the dirt that you have to get used to."

"For some reason, maybe the grain," said Astros' shortstop Sonny Jackson, "the ball gets pulled toward the pitcher's mound when you bunt. If you lay one down right on the rim where the infield meets the dirt, it won't run off and go foul."

Despite the problems, the Astros were well-satisfied with the first test of the nylon surface, installed at a cost of $2 per square foot, and explained that most of those problems could be solved by changing the consistency of the dirt layer under the infield.

The infielders also seemed to be getting more accustomed to handling the problems the longer they played on the unique surface. Three errors were committed on ground balls Saturday but only two yesterday.

Herbert Says Flu, Hard Work Helped Win Citrus Open

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Lionel Hebert, $21,000 victor in the $110,000 Florida Citrus Open Golf Tournament, says he owes his biggest paycheck of his career to "hard work on my game," and maybe the flu bug.

Hebert, who won the 72-hole tournament with a five-under-par 279, said "I've been working very hard on my game, using different techniques and equipment in an effort to improve."

Also, he said after picking up his check, the largest the 38-year-old stocky, handsome Louisianian has won since turning pro in 1950, his victory could have been partly due to the flu.

"I came down with the bug Monday," he said, "and took some medication Tuesday."

"I really slept that night — and was sleepy through most of the pro-am tournament the next day." He said. "I felt great after that."

It was one of the closest tournaments in recent history, according to PGA officials. Only 10 strokes separated the 77 contestants who made the cut after the first 3 6holes. Gary Player of South Africa was one of those who failed to make the cut.

Gardner Dickson Jr., of Dothan, Ala., who led through the second and third rounds, suffered back pains Saturday and yesterday.

"I had to take an opiate," he said yesterday, "because the pain was getting too bad. It made me dizzy and affected my game."

Dickinson finished tied with four others in ninth spot and won $2,800.

A couple of youngsters on the tournament trail, Charles Coody, 28, of Stamford, Tex., and Dick Lytle, 27, of Chula Vista, Calif., tied with early favorite Jack Nicklaus at 281, two strokes behind the leader and three under par. Each collected $8,833.

Sam Snead, who led the first round with a blazing 66, blew up in the second round, shooting a 76 and had subsequent rounds of 70 and 75 for a 287 total, winning $756. Arnold Palmer went four over par at 288 for $502.

Randy Glover, Billy Maxwell, Bob Shave and Mason Rudolph tied at 282 for fifth and collected $4,150 each.

Another four tied for 13th spot and $2,150 prize money. They were Paul Bondeson, R. H. Sikes, Frank Beard and Joe Campbell.

French Ski Team Sweeps U.S. Honors

STOWE, Vt. (AP) — The crack Alpine team from France has swept most of the honors at the U.S. Alpine and International Ski Championships.

Guy Perillat won the combined championship for the three-day meet which wound up yesterday at Mt. Mansfield. Florence Steurer captured the women's combined championship.

Perillat cemented his victory in the final event, winning the slalom over fellow countryman Jean-Claude Killy with a time of 103.60 for two runs, compared to Killy's 103.96. Leo Lacroix placed third with a 107.27 clocking.

Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., prevented a complete French domination by finishing third in the closing slalom and grabbing second place in the combined standing. The 21-year-old Miss Allen covered the 1,050-foot course in 86.99.

Other American girls among the top 10 in the slalom were Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., who was seventh; Cathy Allen, 19, of San Pedro, Calif., eighth, and Olympic medal winner Jean Saubert, 23, of McCall, Idaho, ninth.

Soccer Cup Is Stolen In London

LONDON (AP) — The World Cup—golden symbol of international soccer supremacy—was stolen from a display cabinet in a closely guarded exhibition hall yesterday while a church service was going on in another part of the building.

Scotland Yard said the theft appeared to be the work of professional criminals.

The trophy, a solid gold statuette of a winged figure insured for $84,000, went on exhibition Friday in connection with the World Cup finals in England in July.

The cup cost only 2,000 pounds when it was fashioned in 1930. But since then, the leading soccer nations of the world have battled for it every four years, except during World War II, and its value—at least in the soccer world—has jumped.

I was brought to London only recently by delegates from Brazil, winners of the trophy in the last two tournaments. Italy and Uruguay also have won the trophy twice. If any of these three national teams win this year, the cup will become their property—if the police find it in time.

Litchfield Team In 10th Straight Win

Litchfield's of San Rafael blasted Montrose Chamical 12-2 yesterday for its 10th straight win, staying on top of San Francisco AAA Winter Baseball League standings.

The San Rafael nine hammered 22 hits, while three of its pitchers teamed up to allow only two.

Doug Wilson had three singles and a double in four trips to the plate, hiking his team leading average to .437. He also had three runs batted in and a theft of home to his credit. Joe Panella had two doubles and two singles in four at bats, and five RBI; Alex Barrett had three singles and a double, and Paul Giambra, Don Lauters and Jess Jacinto each had three singles.

Winning pitcher Chuck Murray worked the first three innings, and gave up three hits and two unearned runs. Ron Cole worked the middle three frames and pitched perfect baseball, striking out four of the nine batters he faced. He was followed on the sound by southpaw Bob DeRosa who allowed no hits and struck out five.

Villanova Cage Star NIT's MVP

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Melchionni of Villanova basketball team, Most Valuable Player in the National Invitational Tournament, headed the all-tournament team named yesterday by the Associated Press.

Melchionni, who also made the team last year, scored 109 points in four games for the third-place Wildcats, making him the fifth highest scorer in the NIT's 29-year history.

SANDY, DON ABSENCE HURTS AT THE GATE

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Okay Walter, start passing the hat.

If Mr. O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, isn't willing to meet the salary demands of his movie star holdouts, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, the other clubs around the National League may be willing to help out.

Houston got a taste of how tough that could be over the weekend when they drew about 41,000 for two games against Los Angeles in the Astro-dome. The Astros said that was about 29,000 less than they could have expected had the Dodgers brought Koufax and Drysdale along.

While the games weren't a rousing financial success for the Astros, at least they proved that the Dodgers could indeed win a game here and there without their two ace pitchers. Los Angeles completed a sweep with a 4-1 victory yesterday and the world champions now show a 2-6 exhibition record.

In other games yesterday, the New York Yankees shaded the New York Mets 5-4, Minnesota ripped Atlanta 8-1, Cincinnati beat Boston 6-3 in 13 innings, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 5-4, Detroit bettered St. Louis 9-4, the Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore 5-2, Kansas City thumped Washington 13-4, Cleveland downed the Chicago Cubs 3-1, California edged San Francisco 3-1 and Cincinnati's B squad whipped the Mexico City Reds 5-2.

$200,000 LOSS

Bill Giles, an official of the Houston club, estimated that the absence of Koufax and Drysdale from the Astrodome this season could cost his club in the neighborhood of $200,000.

Giles based his estimate on last season's attendance figures which showed crowds of about 15,000 more than average when Koufax worked and 5,000 higher for Drysdale's appearances.

Tommy Davis delivered a two-run double for the Dodgers' big hit against the Astros. Davis scored the third run after walking and coming around on two-out singles in the fifth by Jim Lefebvre and Lou Johnson.

Rookie Roy White tripled in one run and then stole home for another as the Yankees snapped a four-game Met win string. White also singled in a three-run Yankee first.

The Twins, who lost seven straight before winning, scored their third consecutive victory, beating the Braves. Minnesota scored six runs in the fifth and rapped five Atlanta pitchers for 10 hits.

Deron Johnson's three-run homer in the 13th gave the Reds their victory over Boston. Tony Conigliaro had sent the Red Sox in front with a homer in the top half but the Reds tied it again on two errors and a wild pitch before Johnson's clout.

The Pirates beat the Phillies with sixth inning singles by Bob Bailey and Jerry May delivering the tying and lead runs.

Al Kaline drove in three runs and Detroit exploded for seven in the seventh inning to beat the Cardinals. Kaline had a single, double and sacrifice fly.

Winless Washington dropped its ninth straight with Ernie Fazio and Ed Charles rapping three hits apiece for the Athletics. Fazio had a homer.

Leon Wagner's triple was the key hit in Cleveland's two-run eighth inning that lifted the Indians past the Cubs. Ron Santo homered for Chicago.

Vada Pinson, playing on Cincinnati's B team, belted a home run that helped the Reds beat Mexico City. Pinson's shot delivered three runs in the fifth inning. Lee May also homered for the Reds.

724 Series Takes Tourney Lead

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Bill Williamson of Fostoria, Ohio, rolled the best series of his 24-year bowling career, 724, to take first place Sunday in the regular singles division of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Roeth's 1965 championship score also was beaten Sunday by second-place Garth Mohan of Yonkers, N.Y., who shot 224-269-214—707.

Texas Western Defense Turned Tide In NCAA Upset Over Kentucky Quint

The 36-year-old Haskins and his underdog Miners had just scored a 72-65 upset over the Old Master, Adolph Rupp, and his Kentucky Wildcats. Duke edged Utah 79-77 for third place.

"It's quite a thrill for me, a kind of young punk," Haskins said. "It's great just playing in a game with Mr. Rupp, let alone winning it."

Although both teams entered the title game with identical 27-1 records, Kentucky was an eight-point favorite to win its fifth NCAA championship. No other school has won more than two.

Kentucky was ranked No. 1 in the nation after the regular season and Texas Western was No. 3, with the suspicion that the Miners didn't play too hard a schedule. Haskins disgreed.

"We don't worry about that kind of talk," Haskins said. "We played a lot of good teams before we got here. We played a lot of teams like ourselves . . . ones without a name."

Texas Western should no longer remain in that category. Since Haskins arrived at the El Paso, Tex., school five years ago, the Miners have won 108 games and lost only 26.

As a former player under Hank Iba at Oklahoma State, Haskins stresses defensive basketball and he contends it was defense which upended Kentucky.

"It was one of the finest defensive games we played all season," Haskins said. "The boys knew Kentucky could shoot exceptionally well and that if they didn't play a fine defensive game, they would wind up second."

Rupp said his Wildcats didn't challenge the defense, but were shooting when the opposing player was still 10 feet away.

"We weren't shooting well and our ball handling wasn't good," Rupp said. "When those two things break down, you're in trouble."

Hill scored 20 points, four of them within 10 seconds after two steals early in the game. That gave the Miners a 14-9 lead and they were never headed.

Kentucky closed to within 39-38 early in the second half but Texas Western stretched its advantage to 68-57 and then staved off the Wildcats in the closing minutes.

Hill, Dampier and Riley were named to the All-Tournament team by sports writers and sportscasters, along with Jack Marin of Duke and Jerry Chambers of Utah.

Chambers, who set an NCAA record with 143 points in four games, was the only unanimous choice of the 129 voters and he also was chosen the outstanding player of the tourney.

PREP BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Novato Cops Twin-Bill

Coach Bob Aune's Novato High School Hornets combined tight pitching with timely hitting to sweep a practice baseball double-header from Vallejo's Apaches Saturday at Vallejo, 6-1, 1-0 to boots their season won-lost record to 4-1.

Junior lefthander Chuck Ashworth went the distance on the mound in the opener, scattering seven hits while striking out five and walking only two.

In nightcap John Dolinsek was star both on the mound and at bat in the 10- triumph. The senior three-sport star pitched five innings to gain credit for the win, allowing only two singles while striking out three and walking three. He also drove in the game's only run in the first inning with a double, scoring Frank Perachiotti who earlier had singled.

Wayne Jones pitched the sixth and seventh innings in relief of Dolinsek, also giving up two hits while fanning one and walking two.

Frank Perachiotti led Novato's eight-hit attack with three singles while Dolinsek had a double and single, Mark Moore a double and Everett Fritz and Keith Barngrover a single apiece.

Lincoln got only eight hits in the second game, but seven Drake errors and 13 walks by three Buc pitchers helped the visitors to the easy win. Bob Luiz, Charles Locati and Mike Gaffney were the Pirates pitchers with the control troubles. Luiz was stung with the loss.

Terra Linda Drops Two To Petalumans

Terra Linda High School's Trojans lost a doubleheader to Petaluma High Saturday at Albert Park in San Rafael, dropping the opener 4-2 and the nightcap 6-4.

Both games were extra-inning affairs, the first one going 10 frames and the second one going eight.

Righthander Mike Ainslie was the victim in the first game, coming in to relieve in the 10th inning and giving up a pair of doubles and two runs. Terra Linda starter Chris Calhoon pitched a good game prior to that, allowing four hits and two first-inning runs. He had blanked Petaluma from the second through the ninth innings.

Senior Fred Daniele smashed a three-run homer over the left centerfield wall in the third inning of the second game but it wasn't enough, as the Petalumans broke a 4-4 tie in the top of the eighth with two winning runs.

Drake Splits Pair With Lincoln Nine

Drake High School's Pirates beat Lincoln High of San Francisco 9-6 in the first game of a doubleheader Saturday, but the Links came back in the second game to clobber the Bucs 14-1.

Drake winning pitcher Roy Bunt helped his own cause in the opener of the San Anselmo twin bill, cracking a double to knock in Armindo Candido in the third inning, one of the Pirates' five runs that inning. All-league third baseman Don Humphrey smashed a triple for Drake in the second frame.

Marin Catholic '9' Win One, Lose Two

Handing Bellarmine Prep its first loss in six games, the Marin Catholic baseballers won a narrow 1-0 decision in a practice game last Friday afternoon and then stayed in Santa Clara for the Buchser Tournament over the weekend.

The Wildcats lost to Bishop O'Dowd 2-1 in the tourney opener Friday night and lost again Saturday, this time to Santa Cruz, 11-2.

Brian King pitched the first seven innings of the Bellarmine game, and Tom Fair the final frame, as the two combined for the shutout. Freshman Rick Denning's single knocked in the winning run in the top of the eighth inning. The Marin Catholic catcher had earlier clouted a double.

In Friday night's game against O'Dowd, Marin hurler Ben Burch whiffed 14 batters in his 7-plus innings on the mound but didn't get any batting support.

Indian Valley Golf Winners

Warren Smith and Adele Jonas won the mixtd best ball tournament Saturday at the Indian Valley Golf Club in Novato. Four teams tied for the top in best ball play, so low gross determined the winners.

Results, with best ball and low gross scores:

Warren Smith and Adele Jonas 61-77; Tom Washington and Bonnie Mauer, 61-78; Rowe Waller and Jean Brady, 61-79; C. B. Coleman and Mary Weese, 61-80; Lew Baysinger and Ann Sears, 62-77; John Burmaster and Dorothy Gaylord, 64-81; John Gaylor and Betsy Evans, 65-86; John Bordi and Billie Dreitzler, 66-93.

Novato Thinclads Turn Back Ukiah

With Larry Stewart leading the way, Novato High School's varsity track team whipped Ukiah 72-50 Saturday. The Novato Class B and C teams lost, however, the Bees 68-45 and the Cees 55-22.

Stewart won the 220-yard wash in 25 flat, the high jump at 5-10, the pole vault at 11 feet, and anchored the winning relay team.

FAMILY TENNIS PLAY

Three Marin Teams Advance In Tourney

Three Marin County teams made it through the first weekend of the California State Family Doubles Tournament being held at the Belvedere Tennis Club.

Some 75 teams started competition last Saturday, with quarter-finals held yesterday. Semi-finals will be staged next Saturday, followed by the finals the next day.

Competition is in husband-wife, father-son, father-daughter, mother-son and mother-daughter teams.

In father-daughter action, Chuck and Darby Auerbach of Belvedere outlasted George and Kim Gossler, 11-9, 4-6 and 6-3; the mother-daughter team of Peggy and Suzanne Smetana of Tiburon defeated Elice and Marlene Poletti, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3; and top-seeded Dick and Pat Blaskower of Ross won over Warren and Robin Hodgdon of Mill Valley, 6-1, 6-2, als in father-daughter action.

Among the Marin County winners Saturday who were later eliminated were Alex and Nelcy Tarics of Belvedere, John and India Williams, Arnt and Erika Tjensvold of Tiburon in husband-wife; Harry and Karen Aroyan of San Rafael in father-daughter, and father-son tandems of Hal and Chris Morgan of San Rafael and Philip T. Smith of Sausalito.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Many Contributions Are Tax Deductible

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Your charitable contributions are deductible on your Federal return up to 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income provided that the gifts are to churches, educational institutions, tax-exempt hospitals and organizations which normally receive a substantial part of their support from the government or public such as museums, libraries, ballet, opera, symphony, Red Cross, United Crusade, Cancer Soicety, tuberculosis assn., etc. etc.

P. J. Wikel

If your contributions to the above types of organizations exceed 30 per cent of your adjusted gross income, you can carry any excess over to the next five years.

Contributions to organizations other than the above may be deductible up to 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

To be deductible, your contributions must be to a religious, charitable, educational, scientific or literary organization, or an organization for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, except when such organization is operated for personal profit or to conduct propaganda or attempt to influence legislation.

Also deductible are gifts to fraternal organizations if they are to be used for charitable or religious purposes. Also deductible are gifts to non-profit veterans organizations and gifts to the United States, or any political subdivision of the foregoing or the District of Columbia, but only if the contribution or gift is made for exclusively public purposes.

Contributions in property are deductible at the fair market value of the property at the time of deduction, regardless of how much it cost you, except that if you donate property subject to depreciation, your contribution deduction is the fair market value, less the amount of depreciation you would have to report as ordinary income if you sold the property.

Out of pocket expenses which you pay in giving your services without pay to a qualified organization are deductible as contributions. This includes amounts you pay for gas, oil, etc., and bus fare. It includes amounts you pay for transportation from your home to the place where you serve.

It does not include depreciation or insurance on your car. However, under Revenue Procedure 64-15, you can deduct 5 cents per mile for the use of your car as above.

Reasonable payments for necessary meals and lodging while you are away from home giving services to a qualified organization are deductible. However, you cannot deduct expenses to attend a convention solely as a member rather than as a duly chosen representative.

Unreimbursed expenses directly connected with and solely attributable to gratuitous service you may perform for your charitable organization during the meeting are deductible.

Contributions to political organizations are not deductible on the Federal return, but they are on the California, to a limit of $100 on a separate return and $200 on a joint return. Contributions are deductible on your California return only up to 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

Marin Savings Firm Gets Branch Office

Homestead Savings and Loan Assn., headquartered at 675 Bridgeway, Sausalito, has been granted permission by the state savings and loan commission to establish a branch office in the vicinity of Geary Boulevard between 15th and 23rd Avenues, San Francisco.

John W. Parry, vice president and manager, said no location has yet been selected but the association hopes to open in San Francisco by Sept. 1. This will be Homestead's first branch office.

Stock Market Shows One Of Best Rallies

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed higher today in one of the year's best rallies. Trading was active.

Volume for the day was estimated at 7 million shares compared with 6.46 million on Friday.

It was the best rally in weeks, one of the sharpest of 1966, as prices advanced on a broad front with the accent on the high-flyers which have been the big movers—both on the upside and downside—in the past few months.

United Air Lines ran up 9 points, Northwest Airlines 5, American Airlines 4, Pan American, National and Delta more than 2 each.

Boeing and Douglas aircraft gained 5 or better, United Aircraft and General Dynamics a point or more.

The color-television and other electronics issues zoomed higher. Admiral and Fairchild Camera gained about 6 each, Motorola more than 5, Magnavox 4, Zenith 3, Raytheon 2 and Radio Corp. about a point.

Low-priced A. J. Industries, helped by contracts and its chart pattern, rose nearly a point for a big percentage gain as it looked as the most active stock. Ryder Systems rose about 1½.

Ahead about a point were Bethlehem, Studebaker, Phelps Dodge, Air Reduction, High Voltage Engineering, Reynolds Tobacco, Armco Steel and Continental Air Lines.

KLM Airlines lost about 1½ on its 20-point runup of last week.

Strawberry Firm Specializes In Unusual, Antique Telephones

Unusual business just opened at 236 Town and Country Village, Strawberry, is Unusual Telephones Unlimited — and that names aptly describes the merchandise it sells.

In the past, affixing any telephones to the main service lines, except those supplied by the utility company, has not been permitted. A recent court decision now makes it permissable, under proper conditions.

Owner Mrs. Peggy Dillan of Ross said she and her husband read about the court decision and investigated the possibilities of going into the business. Unusual Telephones is the result. She believes it is the first store of its kind west of New York.

Phones include imports from Sweden and Italy as well as French cradle phones and antique models, reconstructed for present day use — just about everything to tie in with decoration schemes. All phones are fitted with standard jacks and house connections will have to be installed by the telephone company if they are not already there.

The store is open daily from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., also on Friday nights and from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Sundays.

CHARLES C. CLARKE of Kentfield, partner in the San Francisco investment banking and brokerage firm of Davis, Skaggs and Co., starts his 41st series of lectures on investments at 7:30 tonight at College of Marin. No registration in advance is necessary. It's a non-credit class and part of the adult education program of the college.

HENRY C. CORYAT of Woodacre has been promoted from assistant vice president to vice president in the international division at Bank of California San Francisco headquarters. He joined the bank as assistant vice president three years ago after eight years of international banking in New York. He is in charge of business relationships in Latin America, Canada, Spain and Portugal.

CARL O. CARLSON of Peacock Gap has been appointed western regional manager for the engineering division of Factory Mutual System. He has been with the company since 1947, most recently in the capacity of San Francisco district manager.

LLOYD D. YATES of Mill Valley will head a new corporate planning department at Matson Navigation Co. to be established May 1. The department's functions will include developing and coordinating planning activities of Matson subsidiaries, Oceanic Steamship Co. and Matson Terminals, Inc., important in the company's plans to expand its West Coast-Hawaii freight service to the Far East.

Yates joined Matson's research department in 1957 and has been an associate technical director since last September.

WILLIAM J. BREEN of Peacock Gap is celebrating his 30th anniversary with Bank of America this month. He has served at branches in San Mateo, Millbrae, Redwood City, Redding and Southern California. In 1953 he transferred to the personnel relations department and for three years headed that department in Southern California. He has been vice president and personnel relations officer at the San Francisco head office since 1964.

SMITH'S, men's and boys' clothing chain which has its Marin store in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, opened its fifteenth outlet last week—in the Hillsdale Shopping Center, San Mateo. Two more store openings are scheduled for later this year in Mountain View and in Reno.

THOMAS V. LENZ of Lagunitas was winner of the annual sales contest of his firm, Westamerica Securities, Inc., of which he is division manager. The prize was a week's trip for him and his wife to Jamaica.

RECENT extra curricular venture of Bruce Parmelee of Greenbrae is called San Rafael Equipment Co. and is now located at 68 Belvedere Street, San Rafael.

Parmelee, sales representative for all of Northern California and part of Nevada for Southwest Flexible Co., deals primarily in supplying equipto public works departments. San Rafael Equipment will handle both equipment rentals and used equipment sales which Southwest Flexible is unable to provide.

He opened first at 32-B Woodland Avenue last November. New quarters on Belvedere Street just occupied are several times larger.

Quarterly Dividend Increased By PG&E

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pacific Gan and Electric Co. has increased its quarterly dividend by 2.5 cents to 32.5 cents.

The first quarter dividend for 1966 will be payable April 15 to shareholders of record March 25.

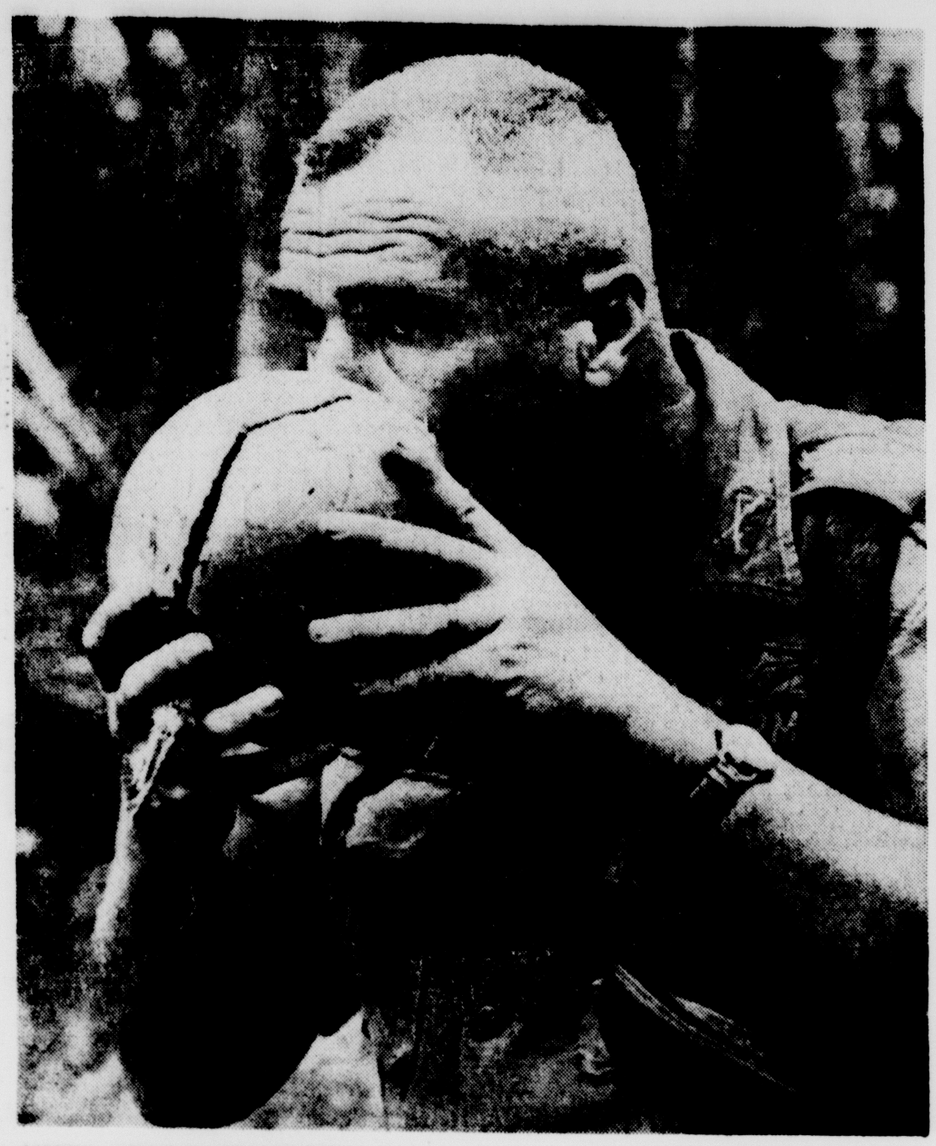

Auto Sales Rising

DETROIT (UPI) — Sales of new automobiles spurted 10 per cent over the pace of a year ago in the first 10 days of March after lagging behind the 1965 pace most of the year. Sales were 256,427 for the period with Chrysler having the biggest gain —26 per cent.

CHICKEN A LA BAYONET—Specialist Jerry Ritchie of Marietta, Ohio, chomps on a chicken spiked on his bayonet. Homeless chickens, belonging to the enemy, are fair game for the American soldier in South Viet Nam, and the soldiers eat them to deny the enemy food.

Housewife Killed As Car Overturns

PETALUMA (AP) — A housewife was killed and her husband and three children injured yesterday when their car skidded and overturned on Lakeville Highway, near Petaluma.

Marlene Roberts Uthe of Petaluma was killed. Her husband, Dr. Clarence Uthe, a veterinarian, and three children — Eilene, 8, Janette, 6, and Rudy, 5—were in fair condition today.

New Coast Guardsmen

Coast Guard Seaman Recruits John J. Daly, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Daly of 19 Watt Avenue, and James F. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Baker of 43 Rollingwood Drive, San Rafael, have completed eight weeks of recruit training at Alameda.

In Fair Condition

Leo O'Farrell, 9, of 104 Hawthorne Avenue, was in fair condition at Marin General Hospital today with burns to his chest, face and arms suffered when his shirt caught fire Friday. A neighbor ripped the shirt off the boy who had apparently been trying to make a bomb with lighter fluid and matches.

Three Dailies Will Merge In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Three New York city newspapers announced today their intention to merge into one company to publish a morning, an afternoon and a Sunday newspaper.

The new company will be known as the World Journal Tribune, Inc.

The New York Journal-American and the New York World-Telegram and the Sun, afternoon dailies, will be merged as the World Journal.

The Sunday editions of the Journal-American and the Herald Tribune will be combined under the name of World Journal and Tribune.

The consolidation will leave Manhattan with five newspapers of general circulation — three morning and two afternoon newspapers, and three Sunday newspapers.

Larkspur Collision Hurts Motorcyclist

James Reed III, 20, of 45 Bolinas Avenue, San Anselmo, was injured at 9:25 p.m. Friday when his northbound motorcycle collided with a car driven by Raymond A. Schrutz, 19, of 162 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, at Magnolia and Murray avenues, Larkspur.

Larkspur police said Schrutz, also northbound, was starting to make a left turn into Murray Avenue when Reed tried to pass his car on the left. Reed was treated for bruises on his lower back at Marin General Hospital.

EATING THE ENEMY'S FOOD

American Soldiers Are Finding Ways To Spice C-Ration Diet

By BOB POOS

AN KHE, South Viet Nam (AP) — The order to American troops operating in Viet Cong-controlled territory is to deny the enemy local livestock, fruit and vegetables. Veteran troopers deny it to the enemy by eating it.

There are 12 basic C-rations and as American soldiers have 12 months to serve here it takes them only a matter of days to grow bored with the regulation fare.

Some of them try for a variation by mixing such things as ham and lima beans with beef and potatoes. The more venturesome spice their diet with local chickens and pigs, coconuts and bananas and onions and peanuts.

Wary at first of eating available local food, the GI has now become an expert at discerning the edibility of Vietnamese fruit and vegetables. Homeless pigs and chickens have been known to launch suicide charges upon American positions — and wound up in the cook pot.

"The milk is better to drink than water," an air cavalry trooper remarked, "because it has a flavor, seems to quench your thirst longer and is nutritious."

Also popular is the pomelo, which the GIs call "Vietnamese grapefruit." It is green with skin about an inch thick and the juicy pulp tastes like grapefruit.

A less popular edible in the "oi," a fruit about the size of a lemon that is filled with seeds. Troops chew on the pulp and spit it out.

Also quite popular are the little green Vietnamese bananas. It takes an expert to know whether they are ripe. They never seem to get yellow like bananas from other tropical areas.

Wild onions and peppers are found virtually everywhere. milk down their parched During field operations the troops stuff a pocket with them and use them to flavor C-rations.

During the cavalry's An Lao Valley campaign some Korean observers at one point were trying ineffectually to open a coconut. "It's plain to see you don't have these in your country," said a U.S. trooper. He opened it with three flicks of his machete.

Sociologist Studying Ways To See Ourselves

To see oursels as others see us!"

John Kinch of Mill Valley, associate professor of sociology at San Francisco State College, is in the midst of a study to find just how much of that gift a person has.

Kinch, who lives at 556 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley, has received a $4,185 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health for the project, but said he hoped to receive a much larger grant in June from the National Science Foundation.

The study actually seeks to find the relationship between how a person sees himself and how he sees other persons respond to him.

Kinch said he believed the more often and earlier a person comes in contact with others and the more important and consistent these contacts are, the more closely his self concept will depend on reactions of others.

If the theory is correct, then experimenters should be able to change a person's self concept over a period of time, Kinch said, adding he plans to test the theory on students, members of private agencies such as the Young Men's Christian Assn. and prison inmates.

Kinch, a graduate of the University of Washington in Seattle, has been at San Francisco State College since 1959. He and his wife, Marian, have two daughters, Sally Jo, 8, and Linda Kay, 7.

Mill Valley Scouts Schedule Paper Drive

The Boy Scouts in Mill Valley have set for April 16 their spring paper drive.

Belvedere Meeting

The Belvedere Planning Commission, meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Belvedere Community Hall, will consider construction details of the six-lot Point Belvedere subdivision on the land of the James McGuiness family, atop Belvedere Island.

This is the year to throw fashion inhibitions to the wind, to wrap your feet in straps, bare your heels, buckle your toes. The year of clear, clean color that mixes and matches in a youthful, carefree way. It's the year of the broader toe, the lower, straighter heel . . . a style that spells comfort in every way and looks great with short skirts! The Big E gratefully salutes our manufacturers for romancing shoes in a soft, feminine, flattering fashion. We think you're probably grateful, too. So come in this week during the Big E's Festival of Shoes and see all the great new styles. Try them on, lots of them. See if you don't agree. Aren't they fun?
